A Large Family
Bleeding Our Friends
Slow Money Raising
A High Wall

By Arthur Brisbane

Copyright 1920.

Senator Harding has said positively in his speech made at Des Moines, Iowa, yesterday afternoon, that he wanted "no acceptance of the league, with or without reservations."

The American people will say the same thing on election day, and there will be no League of Nations, with or without reservations.

One single burying ground across the water holds in long rows the bodies of 35,000 American soldiers. There is no intention to give a foreign council authority to start new burying grounds of that kind.

Yesterday afternoon the Census Bureau in Washington announced the population of the United States 105,700,000.

We have grown into quite a large family since a handful told England in 1776 that this country could and would manage its own affairs without advice or interference from abroad.

How many of the 105,700,000 men and women do you think will vote this year for the League of Nations, vote to crawl back under the protecting wing of England?

Senator Knox asked the President whether he should be legally obliged to fight in case some foreign nation in the league were attacked by some other nation. To this the President replied that we should be (these are his words) "under an absolutely compelling obligation" to do so.

"Moral obligation" or "legal obligation" or both, how many of the 105,700,000 Americans, not counting 12,250,000 more living in our island possessions, will vote for the war League of Nations?

The city of Zurich, Switzerland, bending meekly to the demands of usury, borrows six millions in the United States, paying eight per cent. interest. It receives only $92.50 for each $100 bond. And it agrees to pay $107.50 for the bond when it becomes due.

The first year, therefore, the usurer who lends the money gets fourteen and one-half per cent. The last year he gets fifteen and one-half per cent, and eight per cent. in the interval.

Apart from the fact that these loans disorganize the American money market, making it difficult or impossible for American business men to get capital for new enterprises and for employing labor, such loans should be forbidden on the ground of criminal usury.

That a nation, city or individual is poor is no excuse for stealing money.

We talk about helping our dear friends in Europe with a vicious League of Nations, while permitting our money sharks to bleed those dear friends without limit.

They began yesterday selling household goods of the murdered gambler Elwell. More than $19,000 came in the first day. Twenty-seven dollars was the price of a blood-stained rug. As the rug was sold news came that Elwell's father had died of an apoplectic stroke.

Here the sins and follies of the child are visited upon the father.

Can you imagine Elwell's surprise upon learning from his father that the people here below do not yet know the name of the Elwell murderer, and probably never will know?

The Democrats of Georgia have nominated for Governor Thomas W. Hardwick. He will be elected, and his platform is, "I don't want anything to do with any League of Nations."

Hardwick will be elected. Governor Cox will not.

If you mean to do anything do it now.

The Teamsters' Union has decided to spend two millions to fight the open shop crusade, spreading rapidly among employers. Money is to be raised by imposing an annual tax of thirty cents per capita on the 130,000 members of the union.

At that rate it would take more than fifty years to raise the defence fund of two millions. In a good deal less than fifty years the question of the open or closed shop will have been decided, perhaps two or three times.

If workers mean to make their fights with money, they should imitate the employers and get the money. If every teamster would assess himself each day the value of a five-cent cigar, not excessive, the two million dollar fund would be raised in less than one year.

In fighting the open shop, workmen must realize that they undertake a difficult fight because of court decisions. In the South a judge gives mine owners an injunction restraining workers from making any attempt to unionize mine employes.

This is based on a decision of the United States Supreme Court, not an easy wall to climb.

Under that decision it is only necessary for a man to make his shop, factory, mine or mill absolutely non-union. Once he has established his non-unionism, he can legally make his men sign an agreement to join no union, and he can get an injunction forbidding any man to attempt to unionise the plant.

DECLARES SEARLES 'FEEBLE MINDED'

Counsel Fighting Millionaire's Will Allege Property Was Sold at a Loss

Edward F. Searles, the mysterious Methuen millionaire recluse feeble-mindedly signing real estate papers by which his $30,000,000 estate lost millions, was the picture Sherman L. Whipple drew in beginning the fight to break the will.

Mr. Whipple is counsel for a nephew, Albert Victor Searles, who by the terms of the will stands to lose a $250,000 legacy if he fails in his fight to break the will.

Mr. Whipple told Judge Alden P. White of the Salem Probate Court that "when all the papers of a $30,000,000 estate are in the hands of clerks who appear unfriendly to the opponents, it would seem fair to the sole heir of the estate to appoint neutral administrators."

Judge White postponed decision on Albert Searles' petition for special administrators. A motion for a jury trial as to the validity of the uncle's will comes up next Wednesday.

Mr. Whipple asserted that men and women employed on the Methuen estate, to whom Mr. Searles left various sums of money, told two of his associates that they could not talk to them because of the provision in the will stipulating that anyone who contested it, or assisted in contesting it, would lose his legacy. They said, declared Mr. Whipple, that Mr. Walker had told them that if they even talked with a lawyer for a contestant they might lose their money.

Mr. Whipple further asserted that property in New York which had been held by Mark Hopkins, left by him to his wife and by her left to Mr. Searles, whom she married after her first husband's death, had been sold at a loss of several million dollars. This occurred last December, he said. He said further that he would put in evidence to show that on December 1 Mr. Searles was not in condition to do business.

Beginning with the editions of next Monday, October 11th, the price of the Boston American will be three cents everywhere.

This increase is forced by increased costs of production. Paper which used to cost $40 a ton delivered now costs $130 a ton at the mill and next year will cost $150. Other costs have doubled.

In news service, editorials and features, the American is in a class by itself. It has won and holds its present eminence among New England daily newspapers by faithfulness to its readers and to its own high standards.

The American will continue to deserve the support and confidence of its great army of readers.

BRITAIN WARNS BOLSHEVIKI

Threaten to Sink Russian Warships on Sight in Black Sea

London, Oct. 8.—A British ultimatum to Russia, threatening to sink Russian warships and submarines on sight if they appear in the vicinity of Nikolaieff in the Black Sea, has been handed to Leonid Krassin, the Bolshevist emissary in London, according to information he gave Colonel Arthur Lynch for Universal Service today.

The note, according to Krassin, was from Earl Curzon, the British Secretary for Foreign Affairs. The message is regarded in some quarters as a declaration of war.

"The note," said Krassin, "declares that it has been reported to the British government that a Russian submarine has been sighted off Nikolaieff and further states that if this is so it will be sunk as will all Russian warships on sight."

Kassin said that he did not understand the exact reason for the message as Nikolaieff is undisputably in Russian territory. He has forwarded the note to Moscow.

Krassin said the armistice signed between the Poles and the Russians is virtually a treaty of peace. He ridiculed the report that General Wrangel is to have a tremendous success in the Crimea, in his drive against the Bolshevist government.

"The reported successes of General Wrangel," he said, "are great exaggerations. Wrangel now occupies only a small portion of the Crimea, and he is a long way from Odessa. He is being actively assisted by British officers, and British troops are scattered throughout his territory in the rear ready for fighting mobilization at a few hours' notice. The French are pressing hard to the aid of Wrangel. They have [illegible] a great quantity of materi[illegible]stantinople, and, together with the English, dominate the Black Sea."

For Prince of Wales as Irish President

By International News Service.

London, Oct. 8.—The Prince of Wales for Regent of Ireland, perhaps ultimately President of the Irish republic, was proposed today in the weekly newspaper, Nation, as the best means of settling the Irish problem. After pointing out the general popularity of the Prince of Wales, the Nation further recommended:

1—Suspension of the present British officials in Ireland.

2—A proclamation of amnesty for Irish political prisoners.

3—Disarmament of the police in Ireland.

4—Retirement of the British army from the interior of Ireland to the chief port cities.

5—An appeal to the Irish people to abstain from violence.

6—Summoning the leaders of the Sinn Fein and Orangemen to form an interim cabinet with representatives of the other British overseas dominions present to draw up an Irish constitution.

HEAR 3,800 RENT DISPUTES

Mayor Peters' Housing Committee Reports 635 Cases Adjusted

In a report issued by Mayor Peters' rent and housing committee just issued, it is announced that the committee has disposed fo 3,800 cases since last Spring. Rent increases were adjusted in 635 cases, 452 differences between tenants and landlords were adjusted through conciliation between the house owner and occupants, and extensions were brought about on 535 vacate notices.

Information was given to more than 1,000 people, 256 cases of rent increases were found to be not unreasonable, 155 complaints were investigated at the requests of tenants, and 108 cases were referred to other city boards for investigation, such as the fire, police and water departments.

The report states that there are now pending in court ninty-four cases. More than ninety notices to vacate were found illegal, seven of which were withdrawn.

SOLDIERS FLOG IRISH

REIGN OF TERROR IN GALWAY

British Soldiers Seize and Flog Civilians; MacSwiney's Condition Unchanged

London, Oct. 8.—Terence MacSwiney, the hunger-striking lord mayor of Cork, was so weak this afternoon in the Brixton jail infirmary that he was unable to speak to relatives who called to see him. This was the fifty-seventh day of MacSwiney's hunger strike.

Manchester, England, Oct. 8.—British troops have created a reign of terror in County Galway, Ireland, said a Dublin dispatch to the Guardian today.

A dance hall was raided and five persons were seized and flogged. A priest of the name of Morely was arrested. The "Black and Tan" police in Galway have been reinforced because of threatened reprisals by the Sinn Feiners.

Dublin, Oct. 8.—The strike of seamen at this port, which has been simmering for some time, spread today. Ten thousand dock workers are now idle. Cross channel traffic in cattle and merchandise is completely paralyzed.

Men wearing British uniforms raided a house at Headford last night. A constable was seized, stripped and beaten with a leather thong.

Major McBride, son of Maude Gonne, famous actress, who was recently arrested by British military policemen during a series of raids, has been released from Mountjoy prison.

Details from Irish papers of the reign of terror in Galway will be found on Page 14.

22 HURT IN NEW YORK TROLLEY CAR CRASH

New York, Oct. 8.—Two men are in a serious condition and twenty others suffering from injuries as a result of the telescoping of two surface cars early today at Amsterdam avenue and 129th street. The brakes on one of the cars gave way and it rushed down a steep grade. William Witherax, conductor, suffered a fractured skull and is not expected to live.

HERR KAPP, GERMAN REBEL, COMING HERE

Berlin, Oct. 8.—Herr Kapp, who won fame through his ill-fated monarchist revolution in Germany last March, plans a speaking tour of the United States, according to a Copenhagen dispatch to the Achtuhr Abendblatt. He is scheduled to lecture on political and industrial conditions in Germany.

General Fayolle Pays Respects to Shanks

French war hero, General Emile M. Fayolle, greeting Major-General David C. Shanks of the First Army Corps Area. General Fayolle also met the Governor and Mayor.

General Emile Marie Fayolle, the distinguished French hero, who is visiting Boston for the first time, accompanied by French Consul Joseph C. Flammand of Boston and Colonel Requin and Lieutenatn P. Soubeyran of his staff, visited the State House today, where he exchanged greetings with Governor Coolidge.

There was but little formality, after which the party visited the Hall of Flags, where the General appeared much impressed with the battle-scarred standards of the old Bay State.

From the State oHuse he went to the headquarters of the First Army Corps area on Chauncy street to pay his official respects to Major-General David C. Shanks, head of the area.

After remaining a few moments he left for City Hall, where he was received by Mayor Peters in the latter's private office. The General with Mayor Peters and Consul Flammand, then posed for pictures for the camera men.

They left for the Massachusetts Institute of Technology in Cambridge, where they were met by Professor H. P. Talbot, chairman of the administrative committee and also E. B. Wilson, a member of the committee; Dean H. A. Burton, Professor Walter Humphreys and Colonel J. B. Christian of the department of military science at Tech.

From the president's office they made a tour of the buildings, the general paying particular attention to the mechanical department.

The French war hero will be the guest of honor at a dinner in the Harvard Union tonight. Members of the American Legion, the Harvard Union and the faculty will be present.

State and city officials with prominent civic and business leaders gathered at a dinner in the Somerset Club to pay their respects to the hero of the second battle of the Marne. J. C. Joseph Flamand, French consul, was host to the General. Mayor Peters made a short address.

General Fayolle will leave Boston tomorrow morning for New York. He sails for France on October 13.

GET PROOF IN ATTACK ON GIRL

Chief of Police Says Evidence Justifies Indictment in Miss Wanamaker Case

"We have enough evidence against Frank Ramey right now to warrant his indictment for the savage attack on Mildred Wanamaker."

Chief of Police James J. Pollard of Wakefield made this unqualified declaration today, while Miss Wanamaker was still alternating between semi-consciousness and coma at the Melrose Hospital.

Chief Pollard intimated that while the public might be waiting anxiously for the girl's story the authorities were satisfied that Ramey was the man.

From other sources it was learned that alienists were to be called in to examine Ramey, who is in Wakefield jail in default of $10,000 bonds.

His peculiar actions since arrest have convinced the police that he is not normal, and that his long persecution of the twenty-year-old stenographer, culminating in Wednesday's attack, was the result of a disordered mind.

The boy remains sullen and un-

PROVE WILSON PROMISED MILITARY SUPPORT TO RUMANIA

FACTS EXPOSED BY NOTED MEN REPORTING CONFERENCE

Washington, Oct. 8.—President Wilson will make public official minutes of the peace conference session during which he is alleged by Senator Spencer to have pledged military and naval aid to Rumania and other small nations, only after the United States becomes a member of the League of Nations, it was announced here.

This statement was made following a conference between the President and Norman Davis, acting Secretary of State.

PROVES SPENCER'S CHARGES

Mr. Tumulty insisted that the notes are now in Paris and that so far as the White House is concerned the incident is closed. It was up to Senator Spencer and Senator Reed, who supports him, Mr. Tumulty said, to prove their allegations.

That such is the case is clearly proved by an account of the now famous plenary session of May 31, 1919, as reported by the distinguished journalist-diplomat, E. J. Dillon, in the London Daily Telegraph on June 5, 1919. It is presented here for the first time, as follows:

"Premier Bratiano protested strongly against clauses of the treaty stipulating that various religious or political minorities contained in the new or enlarged States of Central Europe, Poland, Rumania, Czecho-Slovakia and Jugo-Slavia, were to be placed under the protection of the League of Nations.

"The Rumania Premier asserted that this provision was an infringement of the sovereignty of the nations of Europe. He pointed out that no such intervention was provided in the case of ethical minorities in the domains of the great powers themselves.

PLEDGES U. S. FORCES.

"President Wilson made a lengthy rejoinder of great sweetness and function in which he represented the provisions against which Premier Bratiano protested as an act of the purest kindness.

"We guarantee your frontiers," said President Wilson. "This means that we will send arms, ships, and men in case of necessity. Therefore we have the right and duty to hinder the deplorable conditions which would render this intervention unavoidable."

"President Wilson's assertion that the United States would send men and ships to enforce the decree of the league created a profound impression, and was considered a guarantee of the territorial integrity of the new states. Some delegates hail these words as a pledge of American solidarity, with France and Great Britain in taking a hand in governing Europe and managing the affairs of the world."

FRANK SIMONDS CONFIRMS.

It was not until December 3, 1919, that the censorship permitted the statement attributed to President Wilson to reach America. An article by Frank H. Simonds, published in the Washington Star on that date, was entered in the Congressional Record by Senator Johnson on December 4. In it Mr. Simonds quoted President Wilson as having said to Premier Bratiano:

"If the world should be troubled again, if the conditions which we all regard as fundamental are challenged, the guaranties which will be given to you will pledge that the United States will send its army and fleet across the ocean. Is it surprising, under such conditions, that it sholud desire to reach a solution in the various problems which seems to it satisfactory?"

Neither the statement of Mr. Dillon nor that of Mr. Simons was ever contradicted by the President.

On the other hand it was pointed out by Representative Kahn, chairman of the House Military Affairs Committee today, the administration immediately made an effort to enlarge the regular army to a size sufficient to meet its obligations under the league.

BORAH DISPELS IDEA OF SPLIT IN G. O. P.

Hartford, Ct., Oct. 8.—Senator Borah dispelled all possibility of a split in the Republican party because of dissension over the league question. In an address he delivered in Governor's Guard Hall here.

He said: "If you have read Senator Harding's great speech, delivered in Des Moines, you must know that he will refuse to enter not only this league but any league that impairs the sovereignty and independence of the United States."

POLAND DOUBLE IN TERRITORY

Will Emerge as European Power Ranking With Italy, Says Diplomats

London, Oct. 8.—Poland will emerge from her peace negotiations with Soviet Russia and Lithuania a ranging Europe power comparable with Italy, Portugal or Switzerland, according to all indications, it was said today by diplomats. The territory of Poland, as it existed when the country was part of the Russian Empire, will be nearly doubled.

While Poland has no territorial possessions, she probably will have two outlets on the Baltic to enable her to build up her maritime trade.

One outlet will be through the Danzig corridor, the other will be through a corridor along the Dvina River, between Lithuania and Soviet Russia.

The signing of the actual armistice, by which Soviet Russia accepts all of the peace terms, presented by Poland, was to take place at Riga late today. An armistice has been effected between Poland and Lithuania and peace negotiations between Poland and Russia and Poland and Lithuania probably will be carried on simultaneously. New Poland will embrace part of the old German empire, the old Russian empire and the old Austro-Hungarian empire.

Poland has the support of Great Britain and France. These countries want to see a strong and large Polish republic created as a barrier between Bolshevik Russia and continental Europe. On the other hand, Germany is hostile to Poland because of the loss of German territory to the Poles. The Poles will get the old German city of Danzig, although Danzig is to be known as "a free port." Other German cities that probably will go to Poland are Allenstein, Tannenberg, Thorn, Bromberg, Posen and Oppeln.

To the east of the old Polish frontier Polish troops occupied about 100,000 square miles of territory before the Russo-Polish war broke out. The Poles were driven out of this territory, but have now reoccupied nearly all of it.

BANQUET FOR COMPANY D, 14TH ENGINEERS

Arrangements are being made by a committee, of which Jack Hume is chairman and Harley Chittenden is secretary, for a banquet for Co. D, 14th Engineers, at Hotel Westminster on October 11. It is planned to perfect a permanent organization. The 14th Engineers was mobilized at Salem, June 28, 1917. On August 15 it was reviewed in London by King George. It was attached to the Third British Army in the vicinity of Arras. The last of July the Fourteenth was sent to Chateau Thiery and became corps troops of the first American army. This regiment was one of the first to go to the front and had a long continuous and hard record of service.

ROBBERS BEAT WATCHMAN

Knock Somerville Man Unconscious and Flee, Leaving Their Booty Behind

Frank W. Cole, night watchman at the Park Garage on Broadway, Somerville, was brutally beaten today by two auto bandits, who later rifled the establishment for automobile accessories.

Regaining consciousness while the men were sacking the garage, Cole staggered to a telephone and called the Somerville police.

The bandits took fright and went away in the machine in which they arrived, leaving their loot piled on the garage floor.

Cole, who is sixty-two years old, was able to go to the nearby office of Dr. E. H. Robbins, where several stitches were taken in his head. Later he went to his home in Winchester.

The men told him when they entered the garage that they wanted an automobile crank. When he gave them one they beat him over the head with it. Securing a revolver from a desk, they threatened him and then proceeded to the work of sorting out accessories.

Following Cole's call for help Patrolman Shepard was sent to the Park Garage.

COAL SELLS FOR $21 A TON IN PITTSFIELD

Pittsfield, Oct. 8.—After securing an option of several hundred tons of coal at $21 a ton, the Pittsfield Emergency Fuel Committee has sent out questionnaires to determine how many persons in this city need coal bad enough to pay the premium price. The city council will be asked to appropriate $12,000 to buy 500 tons at the quoted price in the event that residents fail to place orders covering the option. Wood in this city is now selling at $16 to $20 a cord.

SEE JAPANESE PLOT IN ATTEMPT TO KILL ANITA BALDWIN

SHE WARNS SENATOR PHELAN

California Heiress Victim of 'Bamboo' and Poison; Discharged Servants Hunted

Los Angeles, Oct. 8.—Detectives who are investigating an attempt on the life of Mrs. Anito Baldwin, daughter of the late "Lucky" Baldwin, are devoting their attention particularly to recently discharged Japanese servants of Mrs. Baldwin.

This turn to the inquiry is due to the peculiarly Oriental feature of the effort to kill the heiress, the bamboo method, a favorite of the Japanese, and some virulent poison, as yet undetermined, being used. ... ...

The investigation may end in international complications. Mrs. Baldwin is living in constant dread of a repetition of the attack on her. She asked that nothing be printed here about the poisoning for fear that it might lead to more drastic and open attempts to kill her.

SUFFERS FROM SHOCK.

Although entirely recovered from the effects of the bamboo, she is suffering from shock.

The poisoning is believed to have been the result of the discharge some time ago by Mrs. Baldwin of all her Japanese servants.

Mrs. Baldwin planned to leave her home to visit Lake Tahoo. A few days before her departure she suffered violent pains in her stomach. She called her physician, Dr. Z. T. Mallaby of Pasadena, on the phone and explained her symptoms. He advised her to take a violent emetic. She followed his directions and was relieved of the poison.

Mrs. Baldwin then placed the contents in a sealed bottle and sent it with a note to Dr. Mallaby. When it arrived the bottle was empty and the note had been opened. Dr. Mallaby, however, found a few particle of bamboo in the bottom of the bottle.

HOW BAMBOO WORKS.

A favorite Japanese method of getting rid of an enemy is to place tiny bits of bamboo in the victim's food. When the food is absorbed by the digestive fluids, the bamboo is left sharp and hard as steel in the stomach, which, physicians declare, brings agonizing pains and death.

Who administered the poison and how it was administered remain mysteries. Officials immediately linked the dismissal of Japanese servants with the attempt.

Dr. Mallaby said that if Mrs. Baldwin had not taken the emetic which he prescribed she undoubtedly would have died.

Following the attack, Mrs. Baldwin immediately thought of United States Senator Phelan, who is prominent as an anti-Asiatic.

She feared that an attack might be made on his life, and sent a letter warning him.

WARNS SENATOR.

She told the Senator she feared that the Japanese might have formed a conspiracy to kill him and other prominent Americans active in anti-Asiatic legislation.

As a result of her letter to Senator Phelan extraordinary efforts are being made to thwart further poisoning plots.

Mrs. Baldwin, as she is now known, inherited half of the estate of $24,000,000 left by the noted Californian. She is one of the two acknowledged daughters of Baldwin. She married George W. Baldwin, divorced him and then married Hull McCloughry. She should not be confused with Beatrice Anita Turnbull, who made an unsuccessful fight for a share of the estate and now is Baroness De Patterson, after a stage career here.

GUARDED BANK EMPLOYE VANISHES WITH $22,500

Camden, N. J., Oct. 8.—David Paul, aged sixty, a bank messenger for a Broadway trust company of this city, disappeared while carrying $10,000 in cash and $12,500 in securities to Philadelphia. With Paul was a bank guard. At the Market street ferry in Philadelphia the guard suddenly lost sight of the aged messenger. He was on his way to the Girard National Bank of Philadelphia.

Striking Picture of Wakefield Victim

Charming study of Miss Mildred Wanamaker, one of Wakefield's prettiest girls, who was nearly killed in a brutal attack. On her return to consciousness hinges the identity of her assailant.

Finding of Wakefield Victim's Handbag Enmeshes Suspect; Girl Able to Talk a Little communicative. He is apparently unmoved by the breaking down of his alibi and the rolling up of the mountain of evidence against him.

RAMEY NOT AFFECTED.

He betrayed some slight interest this morning when told that Miss Wanamaker was improving slowly, and might be expected to regain complete consciousness before night, and finally remove the mystery surrounding the assault.

The girl had several brief periods of consciousness. Her mind was not entirely clear, however, and the police officials were not summoned to her bedside.

She was in a sort of mild delirium and complained feebly to the nurse that "it was hard to take up." She seemed also to be worrying about her work and expressed the fear that she would be late at the office.

A nurse, noticing Miss Wanamaker stir and open her left eye (the right eye is bruised and closed from a blow or kick) stepped close to the cot and asked Miss Wanamaker if she knew Ramey, who is in East Cambridge Jail, in default of $10,000 bonds.

"Yes," said the patient feebly.

PULSE IS STRONGER.

Then, as a test, the nurse slowly repeated the question and the girl answered "No," the second time. This indicated to the hospital staff that while the patient had gained slight mental and physical strength the first day in the hospital she had not recovered her reasoning powers.

She is still on the danger list. In addition to the rain of blows and severe shock. Her pulse was stronger today, and she responded to treatment in a way that encouraged the physicians. Hence, hope for her recovery increased.

These audible replies to the nurse made the authorities more confident that she will soon be able to make a statement and identify her attacker. Ramey, tall, stooped and apparently little concerned, entered a plea of not guilty when arraigned before Judge Bruce in the Malden Court on the charge of attacking Miss Wanamaker, and was held for a hearing October 14.

Miss Wanamaker's black silk handbag was found on the back trail, close to Montrose Nurseries where Ramey was employed as utility boy and teamster. The finding of the missing bag and discovery of a witness, who claims to have seen Ramey hurrying toward the scene of the crime at 7:05 Wednesday morning, are among the latest developments in the tragedy.

SAW RAMEY FROM WINDOW.

Bert Dudley, who lives on the edge of Montrose woods, about a third way between the hothouses and the scene of the attack, has made a statement to the authorities to the effect that he saw Ramey hurrying through the field in the rear of the Dudley house and headed toward Montrose avenue where Miss Wanamaker was struck down between 7:40 and 7:50 a. m.

"I saw him from my window and I am sure it was Ramey," testified Dudley.

The testimony of Dudley places Ramey several hundred yards nearer the scene than Ramey admitted in his third degree examination. The trail between Dudley's house and the hothouses is further filled in by the finding of the handbag and contents in a manner held to be most damaging to the boy prisoner.

A search was made of the cell at the Wakefield jail which Ramey occupied Wednesday night, and a small, plain gold band ring was discovered. It bore the initials "E. W." Mildred M. Wanamaker had a sister Edna, who died two years ago, but the members of her family said they could not recollect that she ever possessed such a ring.

On the day of the attack, Patrolman Eugene McDonald led Ramey, manacled, over this trail from the scene to the Montrose Nurseries. McDonald claims to have found fresh foot prints on the edge of Dudley's truck garden which exactly fitted Ramey's shoes. The shoes have been added to the exhibits in the case.

YOUNG MEN FIND BAG.

Headed by Chief of Police Pollard a posse of policemen and citizens raked the woods and underbrush in the search for the girl's handbag. The searchers advanced in a row, each man six feet apart. While this file was inspecting every rock, stump and bush, four young men volunteers decided to go on a hunt of their own.

Familiar with every foot of the region, they followed the main trail that winds through country surprisingly remote and rough for that section and affording a perfect screen for a fugitive until the clearing at the Dudley home is reached. There is a slight depression there, and then the trail, fenced by alders and thick underbrush, skirts a stone wall to Saugus River, which at that point is little more than a brook and can be easily jumped in places.

About 75 yards from the stone spire of the Montrose Nurseries the four young men found the missing handbag. It was first sighted under a bush near the wall by Charles E. Randall. The others in the party were Thomas E. Murphy, William J. Stanley and Harold Miller.

CONTENTS STREWN ON GROUND.

Two of them hastened back to save the main posse further hunting and all hands hastened to the spot. The bag when found was clasped and contained only a small mirror and a card showing that Miss Wanamaker was a member of the Federal Co-operative Association. There was no purse or money in it. Miss Wanamaker's mother said Mildred usually carried a small sum of money.

Selectmen Edward Sullivan picked up lunch tickets such as are used by employes of the John Hancock Insurance Company in Boston where Miss Wanamaker was employed. Someone else found two tickets for a barrel of flour to be raffled off by Clan McPhail, a Scotch organization. These each bore the name "Mildred" written in lead pencil. The tickets were numbered 1,322 and 1,323.

Notice was taken that all these articles like the bag had been tossed on the left hand side of the foot path, and Chief Pollard remarked that Ramey is left handed.

Some yards still further, Patrick Kiernan of Wakefield, son of Attorney Peter Kiernan for Ramey, found a $5 war savings stamp lying directly in the path, face up, and like the other effects it was perfectly dry.

WORKMATES STUNNED.

These discoveries stunned the workmates of Ramey at the hothouses, which are in plain view of the spot where the bag was found. Although Ramey is alleged to have returned over the same trail nobody at the Dudley house saw him come back, but this gap in the evidence was filled in by the finding of the bag and contents within fifty yards of the hothouses where Ramey returned to work at 7:45, according to the other employes of the nurseries.

ASK CABLE AND RADIO UNION

Americans for International Agreement Similar to That Governing Mails of World

By International News Service.

Washington, Oct. 8.—Representatives of the five great powers, France, England, Italy, Japan and the United States, met here today to arrange the date for the international communications conference which will be held probably in Washington, London or Paris.

While disposition of German cables seized by the allies during the war is one of the main problems of the preliminary conference beginning here today, the whole question of new cables, installation of new wireless plants, better facilities for the exchange of press and commercial messages, price regulation, the discrimination evil and kindred topics will be discussed, with the view to bringing them before the general conference.

The American delegates, it is understood, will endeavor to effect a general international agreement concerning telegraph, cable and radio messages of all classes akin to that under which the International Postal Union functions.

The International Postal Union was first broached by President Lincoln's Postmaster-General, and though scoffed at then, through it today any one without discrimination for a nickel may send a letter from the remotest district in any part of the world.

Some general arrangement as this, it is said, is favored by American officials as a means of further linking the peoples of the world together and bringing about a better understanding.

GOLDEN RULE AS CURE FOR STRIFE

World Brotherhood Offers Sermon on the Mount Instead of Wilson League

By International News Service.

Washington, Oct. 8.—Ending war and industri [illegible] by the application of the golden rule is the aim of a conference which will open here tomorrow with delegates present from twenty-five nations.

It will be the second meeting of the World Brotherhood, an organization with a membership of 800,000, which was begun after the war by prominent laymen of Great Britain.

Frank Morrison, secretary of the American Federation of Labor, and William Jennings Bryan will be among the speakers.

"As a solution of the problems of the world we offer the teachings of the Sermon on the Mount instead of the League of Nations," said Thomas Howell, secretary of the Canadian Brotherhood Federation and Secretary for North America. "Until men are awakened to the fact that they are brothers and love one another with faith and understanding, nothing can bring peace into the world.

"Our mission is another crusade to create a new spirit of human brotherhood, a new faith in humanity and the great human ideals.

"We preach that the golden rule must be applied to the Germans and Bolshevists as well as to the other peoples of the earth. The bitterness against them is not Christian.

"The war, a terrible judgment on unbrotherly international life and commercial relations, has opened the way to our movement in all parts of the world."

Howell announced that he will propose Berlin as the next meeting place of the Brotherhood.

105,883,108 in U. S.; Bay State Ranks 6th

Washington, Oct. 8.—The population of Continental United States is 105,883,108, it was announced at the census bureau today. The figures are subject to correction, but any revision will leave them substantially the same, possibly a little higher, according to Sam L. Rogers, director of the bureau.

Massachusetts occupies sixth place in a comparative list of the States with a population of 3,852,356. New York is first with Pennsylvania, Illinois, Ohio and Texas following in order.

Following is the population of the other New England States given in the order of their relative prominence:

Connecticut, 1,380,585; Maine, 768,014; Rhode Island, 604,397; New Hampshire, 443,083 and Vermont 352,421.

During the past ten years the rate of increase, it was stated, has been 14.9 per cent., as compared to 21 per cent. during the preceding decade.

"The large falling off in the rate of increase is due mainly to an almost complete cessation of immigration during the past five years," said Mr. Mr. Rodgers. "In some degree it is due also to the influenza epidemic and casualties in the World War."

For the first time 51.9 per cent. more than half the population of America, resides in urban territory. The rural population is 50,866,899, or 48.1 per cent.

The 1910 census showed 53.7 per cent. of the entire population rural. This represents a loss of 5.6 per cent. in the proportion for the population living in rural territory.

ALLSTON SUGAR 12 1-2 CENTS

That Is Price Per Pound at One Store; Others Nearly Four Cents Higher

Sugar is retailing in Allston at 12½ cents a pound. This is the lowest price at which the commodity has sold in Boston or vicinity for nearly a year.

The store at which it is being sold at this low price is located on Harvard street.

Within three blocks other stores are selling it for as much as four cents a pound more.

The Revere Sugar Refinery, owned by the United Fruit Company, has cut its wholesale price for the fourth time in a week, making the present quotation 11¾ cents, with 2 per cent. off for payment in seven days.

The total cut in wholesale price this week amounted to 2¾ cents per pound.

The Federal Sugar Refinery reduced the wholesale price in New York to 11 cents, with 2 per cent. off for payment in seven days.

CAFE PRICES PROBE ON IN RHODE ISLAND

Providence, Oct. 8.—Restaurant food prices here and in other Rhode Island communities are to be investigated at once by agents of the Department of Justice. Addison P. Munroe, Federal Fair Price Commissioner here, issued the order today. Where profiteering is found, warning will be given. If the offences continue, prosecutions under the Lever law will be ordered.

RAILROADS DISCHARGE HUNDREDS OF WORKERS

Chicago, Oct. 8.—Officials of several Middle West railroads, with offices in this city, today dismissed several hundred employes. Slump in freight, reduction in cost, and high cost of labor were given as reasons. About 200 men have been dropped in Cincinnati and over 535 in the mechanical department on the Wabash Railroad Co. at Decatur, Ill. A 10 per cent. reduction on the New York Central at Elkhart, Ind., has also been ordered.

WM. YOUNG, DRAMATIST OF "BEN HUR," IS DEAD

New York, Oct. 8.—Announcement of the death of William Young, dramatist and author, at his home in Burkehaven, N. H., on October 2 was made here today. The deceased was aged seventy-three and the burial will take place at Monmouth, Ill. One of his principal works was the dramatization of "Ben Hur."

COX ATTACKS THE SENATE

Charges 'Oligarchy' Is Playing for Absolute Control of the Supreme Court

By International News Service.

Paducah, Ky., Oct. 8.—Absolute control of the Supreme Court of the United States, of Congress and the Presidency is the stake for which the Senatorial oligarchy is playing, Governor Cox charged in his speech here today.

Four Supreme Court judges are likely to be appointed during the next Presidential administration, he pointed out, and insisted that it "would naturally follow that Senator Harding, if elected, would appoint reactionary members," thus binding the country to reaction "for the better part of a generation."

"It is a simple matter for the people to make a change in the executive and legislative branches of the government," the Governor continued, "but not in the judicial. As I see it, this is the real danger of a reactionary victory next to the scrapping of the League of Nations.

"Throughout the years the Senate has trespassed upon the authority of the House of Representatives. The constitution provides that all legislation having to do with the raising of revenues shall be initiated in the House.

"Yet there has been probably not been a single tariff measure in the last fifty years which was not changed in its every line after the enacting clause once it reached the Senate.

"By the nomination of one of its own members as the reactionary candidate for the presidency, it now has the opportunity of annexing the executive department. If the senatorial ring should win the election, it would in addition to controlling the President also possess the constitutional right of confirmation of members of the Supreme Court appointed by the President.

"Four members of the court being now eligible for retirement, there will, beyond doubt, be at least four vacancies on this court within the next four years.

"It will be seen at a glance that the Senatorial crowd is playing for big stakes which are no more nor less than absolute control of the three constitutional branches of our government."

JAP CONSULATE ATTACKED BY CHINESE BANDITS

Washington, Oct. 8.—Japanese troops have been hurried from Korea into the Chinese province of Kirin, following an attack by bandits upon the Japanese consulate at Hunchun, it was announced by the Japanese embassy.

PRISONER NUMBER 9653

Eugene V. Debs, Socialist Candidate for President, Interviewed in the Atlanta Penitentiary by Norman Hapgood

Norman Hapgood, famous editor, author and critic, has interviewed in the Atlanta Penitentiary exclusively for the Boston American Eugene V. Debs, Socialist candidate for President.

Many interviews Norman Hapgood has had with men of public prominence over a long span of years. His talk with the imprisoned Debs bids fair to rank as one of the most gripping in its content, most graphic in the style in which it is narrated.

As an editor of important periodicals, including Collier's and Harper's, and as former U. S. Minister to Denmark, Mr. Hapgood developed his keen powers of analysis and study of political philosophy. As a biographer of the lives of great statesmen, his grasp of history and his love for Americanism is such that in his Debs interview there are important interpretations that will appeal to the hearts of Americans, even though, like Mr. Hapgood himself, they do not assemble under the political banner upheld by the sixty-five-year-old philosopher-leader, who is "Number 9653" in the Atlanta Penitentiary. In the interview Debs' abhorrence of violence to achieve his principles is clearly shown.

By NORMAN HAPGOOD.

Copyright, 1920, by Star Company.

Why have I just left a comfortable home, to spend eighty tiresome hours on a train, in order to talk sixty-five minutes with a man some of whose beliefs are not mine?

Because I believe in liberty. In 1920 not many people do. If many Americans did believe in liberty, Eugene Debs would not be in Atlanta Penitentiary, and there would be one less blot on the history of our country.

Did you ever enter the strong gates of a prison? Has your mind ever pictured the sinking heart of a man who hears those heavy iron doors clank behind him? Wife and child, perhaps are shut from him in the outer world. Honor and respect are there. And inside? The lost are there, the despairing, the destroyed. Leave hope behind, ye who enter. And yet it is not as bad as it was some centuries ago. The harmonious and austere building at Atlanta is infinitely superior, in what happens inside of it, to the prisons of Lincoln's day. God knows it is bad enough.

Partly, it is bad because we in truth do not know what to do with certain types of dangerous depravity. Give us time, a century or two, and we may learn the alphabet of treating such aberration. Granted we are ignorant about crime—what about prisoner 9653? Why is he in this place? Can we pretend that we do not know enough not to keep in prison a noble and famous man, sixty-five years old, with eyes like dawn and the smile of a radiant soul?

VOICE OF THE PEOPLE.

Before I start my talk with Debs (he will wait—he has many weary weeks, months, years allotted him by our law for waiting) I want to tell Attorney-General Palmer why Debs was nominated this time for the presidency. I say Mr. Palmer, because I am not much interested in his alibi about a general proclamation signed by the President, and the Attorney-General's inability to pass on particular cases. I think I know that it is not the sick President who has wholly been determining the policy of the Department of Justice. Well, Mr. Palmer, here is something that is not generally known. It was not the intention of the Socialist leaders to nominate Debs this year. They had another man in view. The rank and file simply took it out of their hands. These masses had just one reason. Debs was their friend and Debs was in jail. That was enough for them. Perhaps the voice of the people was the voice of God.

RECALL WILKES CASE.

Now I will ask Mr. Palmer to put with this fact one other. He has read it, but perhaps not recently. He may have been too busy. If he will look it up he will find one reason that the British, whatever they may do in Ireland or Asia, are a little shy about interfering with the rights of free-born Englishmen at home. All the strength and will of George the Third, then at the height of his power, were used to keep a citizen, John Wilkes, a journalist, like Debs, out of the House of Commons, and also to keep him in jail. All the powers of the House itself were used to keep the same undesirable citizen out of their midst. The fight lasted years. The rough workingmen of London elected Wilkes whenever there was an election, and when he was in jail they elected as his associate anybody he told them to. After many years of attempting to curb freedom of representation and freedom of the press Wilkes took his seat, and the House of Commons has never forgotten.

OTHERS MAY PROFIT.

Of course, Mr. Palmer is not the only person who might profit from this bit of history. Speaker Sweet and Bill Barnes might discuss it together as they reminisce about the recent Socialist election in New York and lay their plans for the future. The House of Representatives might think it over in connection with Victor Berger's strength in Milwaukee and try to guess how the citizens who are forbidden the right to select their representative must feel, especially when they see Trueman H. Newberry comfortably ensconced in his Senate seat.

But I am summoned and must stop this preaching and follow a prison attendant through the great door, but not far beyond it. I am not to see the cells this time, though I have seen them before in this same penitentiary, and I know that the warden is a good man, doing his best at a bitter job, taking an interest in his prison farm and in moral health. But to see prisoner 9,653 we go only so far as a reception room, and Eugene V. Debs, four times nominee of a great party for the Presidency, now Number 9,653, steps forth eagerly to meet me. How warm his grasp! How pure and sunny his smile! How his face carries the record of his forty years of service, of forbearance, of hope of a great belief. I think little about the theories of that pope of Socialism, Mr. Karl Marx. I feel that I am in the presence of one of this world's high spirits.

DISCUSS RUSSIA.

We sit down on opposite sides of a long table, Debs' lawyer is there, and so is the prison attendant. Never mind; Debs doesn't mind. He leans across, his face alight, his speaking and delicate hands at play. He will not let me get in my question. His warm cordiality prevents. He knows I am not a Socialist and that I am not going to vote for him. He knows all about it. But what is that to him? I am a human being, which is enough. But there is more. I have recently chosen the unpopular course on a great subject—Russia—and Debs knows all about that also, and pours out on over-generous appreciation until, afraid of that man at the end of the table, who is responsible for the allotment of time, I see a chance to turn the switch and I suddenly ask the most dangerous question I know.

(The second instalment will be published in the American tomorrow.)

U. S. RAILROAD TO SPEND $12,000,000 IN MEXICO

Mexico City, Oct. 8.—E. Randolph, head of the Southern Pacific railroad lines in Mexico, announces that the railroad will at once begin to spend $12,000,000 in improvements and extensions. In making this announcement, Mr. Randolph expressed confidence in the new Mexican government, saying that it gave assurance of future tranquillity.

FEDERAL PROBE OF CAFES

U. S. Agents Sweep State for Evidence of Food Profiteering

A state wide probe of profiteering by hotel and restaurant proprietors has been started by United States Attorney Daniel J. Gallagher. He plans to throw the doors wide open, summoning alleged profiteers from all parts of Massachusetts to explain why they continue charging exorbitant prices for food.

"I first planned to confine the investigation to Boston hotels and restaurants," said Mr. Gallagher to the American, "but the scope of the inquiry has been enlarged. I have instructed investigators of the Department of Justice to make the investigation state wide. It is quite apparent to the most casual investigator that there is a great deal of profiteering going on in restaurants and hotels. It is time it was stopped and I intend to stop it."

GIVEN AMERICAN EVIDENCE.

Chairman Eugene C. Hultman of the State Commission on Necessaries of Life today turned over to Attorney Gallagher information recently obtained in investigations of eating places throughout the State. The Boston American also placed in the hands of the attorney evidence collected during its recent expose of profiteering in food by local restaurants.

Mr. Hultman said: "The commission of which I am chairman is convinced that the time has arrived for legal action on this matter. For that reason I have turned over to the United States attorney all the information recently collected by us."

RAPS PROBE OPPOSITION.

Attorney Gallagher ridiculed an editorial in a Boston morning paper which said that persons of historical perspective could not fail to see that it is infinitely better to trust such things as reduction of prices in hotels and restaurants to the law of supply and demand. "Such a statement is absolutely ridiculous," said Mr. Gallagher.

"The editorial says that if persons do not get good bargains in one hotel dining room they can go to another. How can a person get a better bargain in another hotel when the proprietors are handed together and fix prices? We all can remember the day when it was possible to get a good meal in a Boston hotel for $1, but today a person has to spend $2.50 or more to get a meal in the same place.

COSTS DROP BUT NOT PRICES.

"The prices on many articles of food have been reduced but the restaurants and hotels have kept their prices up just the same. I refer to potatoes for one thing. As high as 30 cents is being charged for an order of potatoes in some Boston restaurants. Those prices were fixed when potatoes were scarce and costly. Prices have dropped one-third or one-fourth but the restaurant charge is the same. We are still eating war bread in some places.

"This matter of hotel and restaurant prices is a very vital one to the people. It affects not only their pocketbooks but also their health. I have ordered the doors thrown wide open on this matter and I am going the limit on it."

HAYS ASKS FOR WILSON'S PLEDGES TO EUROPE

New York, Oct. 8.—Disclosure of pledges made by President Wilson to European statesmen is asked by Will H. Hays, Republican chairman, in a letter to George White, Democratic chairman, today. "May I suggest," writes Hays, "in the interest of truth, that we make an effort in some way to ascertain just what the President promised Europe that his country would do that may not be in the text of the covenant. Won't you help us find out just what this was and let us give that to the country also. Governor Cox has promised to make good these pledges, whatever they may be."

GIBBS TO COMMAND OLD MEDFORD COMPANY

An old militia company, in existence since the Civil War, will be reorganized tonight when fifty-five recruits will form the nucleus of the new Lawrence Light Guards of Medford. This company was formerly E Company of the 101st Infantry, and Lieutenant Frank Gibbs of that company will be its commander. Lieutenant Gibbs is also commander of Medford Post, No. 45, American Legion.

The new company will be a unit of the First Engineers, Massachusetts National Guard.

Discharged Symphony Players Sue

Rudolph Nagel, violoncello; Gustav F. Helm, trumpeter, and Fortunato Sordillo, trombone player, have each brought suits in the Superior Court for Suffolk County for $10,000 against the Boston Symphony Orchestra for alleged breach of contract. They say they were hired for the seasons of 1919-1920 to 1921-1922, inclusive, but were discharged on March 5 last. Nagel and Sordillo were each paid $50 a week, and Helm received $85.72 a week.

LAWRENCE MAY LOSE STREET CAR SERVICE

Lawrence, Oct. 8.—In the opinion of James H. Bride, chairman of the street railway committee, the people of Lawrence and vicinity are not patronizing the street railway to any great extent because "walking is easy."

The small area of Lawrence and its nearness to suburban points, makes a boycott of the street cars a possibility easily accomplished. Mr. Bride, at a conference on the car situation, issued a warning that unless the people here are willing to help pay costs Lawrence will lose its street cars.

Religious Weeklies Go to 10 Cents

On account of the high cost of print paper, the religious weeklies have all advanced to 10 cents. The weeklies are: The Congregationalist, The Christian Register and Zion's Herald for Boston, The Churchman of New York, The Living Church of Milwaukee are selling for 10 cents per copy with their former price at 5 cents.

Among the monthlies which are advanced in price are: The Church Militant of Massachusetts, The American Church Monthly and The Chronicle of Poughkeepsie

ONE-MAN CARS CAUSE LAYOFF AT WEYMOUTH

Fifteen East Weymouth carmen were thrown out of work when the Eastern Massachusetts Street Railway began operating one man cars on all the South Shore lines. The use of these cars, which are the same type as those previously used, has caused dissatisfaction among South Shore commuters because of the delays caused in making fare change.

The receipts for the first day show a marked decrease over the receipts of a month ago on the same lines.

Throughout Filene's lower prices

SMALL STOCKS at the start of the Fall season are the secret of the fact that Filene's has been so well able to take advantage of the New Lower Prices. And this is a double advantage: for it means NEW goods as well as the new lower prices! Values like this don't just happen at Filene's: they are part of our Better-Value-planning, which now, as 40 years ago, accounts for the fact that "your dollars go farther at Filene's."

Good News!

Reduced prices on boys', girls' and kiddies' shoes

These are a discontinued line of shoes, of a quality that is almost on a par with our own Guardian shoes, and having unusually high standards for leather and workmanship.

$4.85 now for boys' tan and gun metal lace boots that were $7 and $7.50. Sizes 11½ to 2.

$5.85 now for boys' shoes that were $8 and $8.50. Sizes 2½ to 6.

$4.65 now for children's tan and gun metal lace boots that were $6 and $6.50.

$5.65 now for children's shoes that were $7, $7.50 and $8.

$5.85 now for girls' tan and gun metal lace boots that were $7, $8 and $8.50.

$6.85 now for girls' shoes that were $8, $9.50 and $10.

Remember, though, that it is a discontinued line and sizes are broken. We advise coming early Saturday for this reason and because we can fit you better.

Woman Found Dead

Medical Examiner George B. Magrath performed an autopsy today on the body of Mrs. Anna Coughlin of No. 242 Saratoga street, East Boston, who was found dead in her apartments.

Husband, Are

You keeping that vow you made to that good wife to protect her in sickness and in health? If she is suffering with Liver, Stomach Trouble or Constipation, I will send her a trial treatment of Dr. Burkhart's Vegetable Compound. It will bring back those rosy cheeks. She will be once more that Old-time Sweetheart. Sold at all drug stores; 30-day treatment, 25c; 70 days, 50c. Dr. Burkhart, Cincinnati, O.—Adv.

CLEARY SAYS CONGRESS FAVORS COAST CANAL

Atlantic City, N. J., Oct. 8.—Congressman W. M. J. Cleary of New York, in an address before the Atlantic Deeper Waterways convention, in session here, declared that Congress maintains a sympathetic attitude on the project of an inland canal from Florida to Boston.

Blind Woman Registers

In spite of blindness, infirmity and age, Lucy W. Burr, aged 67, of No. 220 Marlborough street, Back Bay, visited City Hall and registered for the Presidential elections.

UNIDENTIFIED MAN DIES IN RESTAURANT

A middle-aged man, unidentified, died suddenly in a Somerset street restaurant, apparently of natural causes. His body is at the north morgue awaiting medical examination and a claimant. In his pocket was a card inscribed, "William Malcolm, No. 18 Bowdoin street."

BOSTON WOMAN ASKS $10,000 HEART BALM

Josephine G. Wiseman of Boston has brought suit for $10,000 against Joseph B. Emerson of Somerville, alleging breach of promise to marry. She says the promise was made on September 11, 1919.

TIRE IN COAL HOLE CAUSES YOUTH'S ARREST

An automobile truck tire bounded out of a coal hole and landed at the feet of Patrolman William H. Donovan of the Somerville police as he stood near the Mystic Junction freight yards of the Boston & Maine. A moment later a youth crawled from the cache. He was arrested and gave the name of William H. Goode, aged nineteen, of No. 42 Grove street. It is thought that the tire was stolen in the freight yards.

Accused of Bond Theft

George W. Pease, of No. 37 Codman park, Roxbury, was charged by local inspectors in Central Court today with larceny of three Liberty bonds, worth $200, from John H. Powers, an attorney in the Ames building.

Superfluous Hair Now Removed Roots and All!
(New and Instantaneous Home Method)

A boon to women troubled with superfluous hair is the new phelactine process. It is totally unlike the depilatory, electrical and other methods heretofore employed for the removal of hairy growths. It is the only thing that enables one to remove the hair completely—roots and all—in one's own home, without the assistance of an expert. The result cannot be doubted, for the user sees the hair-roots with her own eyes.

A stick of phelactine, with easy directions, can be had at any drugstore. It is entirely harmless (a child could safely eat it), odorless and non-irritating. It is an instantaneous method, and so thorough that the skin is left perfectly smooth and hairless, bearing not the least evidence of its former disfigurement.—Advertisement.

BRAVES' PLAYER TO TAKE BRIDE

Horace Ford Will Wed School-day Sweetheart Next Monday

An acquaintance begun several years ago, when both were students in the Somerville High School, will culminate in the wedding next Monday evening of Miss Marjorie L. Aldrich of that city and Horace H. Ford, the second baseman of Boston National Baseball team.

The ceremony will take place at the home of the bride's parents, Mr. and Mrs. C. G. Aldrich at No. [illegible] Broadway, Somerville. The Rev. David Fraser, pastor of the West Somerville Congregational Church, will officiate.

The groom is the son of Mr. and Mrs. Robert H. Ford of No. 22 Powder House boulevard, West Somerville.

The couple will honeymoon in Havana, Cuba, where they will spend the winter. Mr. Ford will play on a baseball nine of big league players which plan a tour of that country.

SOCIETY WOMAN WINS DIVORCE

Mrs. Dayton, Wellesley Graduate, Given Decree in 20 Minutes at St. Louis

St. Louis, Oct. 8.—Mrs. Carolyn Stover Dayton of Webster Park filed suit for divorce, her husband, Harold Lewis Dayton registered a denial. It went to trial and the decree was granted all in twenty minutes in the Circuit Court here.

Their mariage in Boston in June, 1918, was the climax of a romance that began when Mrs. Dayton was a student at Wellesley College from which she was graduated. Her petition sets forth that they separated on August 20, 1919.

Mrs. Dayton, daughter of W. E. Stover, representative of the Pittsburgh, Cincinnati, Chicago & St. Louis Railway, is reputed to be wealthy. She is conspicuous in social events in St. Louis and in the East and lives with her parents at No. 55 Mason avenue, Webster Park.

Her husband represents a candy firm of Cambridge, Mass.

INSTITUTIONS ARE BEQUEATHED $150,000

North Adams, Oct. 8.—Under the will of Charles E. Whitney, late of this city, an estate of $150,000 is to be divided equally between the North Adams Hospital, the North Adams Y. M. C. A., and the North Adams Methodist Church, upon the death of Mrs. Whitney. Whitney was a well-known local building contractor.

Try This If You Have Dandruff

There is one sure way that never fails to remove dandruff completely and that is to dissolve it. This destroys it entirely. To do this, just get about four ounces of plain, ordinary liquid arvon; apply it at night when retiring; use enough to moisten the scalp and rub it in gently with the finger tips.

By morning, most if not all, of your dandruff will be gone, and three or four more applications will completely dissolve and entirely destroy every single sign and trace of it, no matter how much dandruff you may have.

You will find, too, that all itching and digging of the scalp will stop instantly, and your hair will be fluffy, lustrous, glossy, silky and soft, and look and feel a hundred times better.

You can get liquid arvon at any drug store. It is inexpensive and four ounces is all you will need. This simple remedy has never been known to fail.—Advertisement.

VOTERS' LEAGUE IGNORES PLEA BY G. O. P. WOMEN

At the board meeting of the Massachusetts League of Women Voters a communication was read from a local organization of Republican women asking the State League of Women Voters to cease its efforts to induce women to register, saying that this was more properly the work of the party organizations. After discussions a resolution was unanimously passed to continue to urge the registration of all women, without regard to party.

FAMINE FORCES REDS TO YIELD

Bolshevists, Menaced by Overthrow, Submit to Polish Terms in Riga Armistice

By KARL H. VON WIEGAND,
Boston American Staff Correspondent.

Berlin, Oct. 8.—The peace of Riga was a Polish, not a Russian peace, according to every indication received here and from this and other signs from within Russia itself the knowledge is common that the Red Soviet bear has come to grips with his mightiest antagonist—a combination of hunger, cold and military humiliation.

The reports of the increasing shakiness of the Moscow rule continue to come in. General Budenny, the famous cavalry leader, it is reported, threatened with a court martial because of his disastrous defeat before Lemberg, has gone over to General Petlura, the anti-Bolshevik commander in the Ukraine. This report must be accepted with reservation.

TO TURN ON WRANGEL.

The pro-Lenine influence points out that the peace at Riga, regardless of what it does to the northern front, will enable the Reds to throw all of their forces against Wrangel, probably bringing him to the end that overtook Kolchak.

The cumulative information trinkling into Germany from several more or less reliable sources in Russia tells that the gaunt spectre of famine is being seen in ever-increasing areas in Russia and especially in the cities.

Secret services, with agents here in touch with many corners of the vast empire, say there is a strong possibility that hunger and cold, whipping the population into revolt against Moscow, may evict the present regime before Spring.

TO "WEAR OUT REDS."

The following is based on talks I have had with three persons supposedly somewhat informed on the situation in Russia. One is chief of an extensive counter revolutionary secret service with many agents in Russia. Another is identified with the same influence and the third is head of counter revolutionary groups outside of Russia.

They united in saying the program against Lenine, Trotzky and the Bolshevist regime, was to "wear them out." Agents of the counter revolution have been sent into Ruthenia and the areas farther north from Crimea to organize the peasants into a united refusal to deliver up their foodstuffs to the Bolshevist cities. They are urged to resist with arms where attempts are made to force delivery.

As the peasants have but little faith in the Bolshevist rubles and Lenine and Trotzky have practically nothing to offer, being without a surplus of shoes, cloth, sugar and other things the peasants need, the peasants are slowly being won over to the new plan.

WAR GAS CAUSES DEATH OF SOUTH BOSTON HERO

First Lieutenant Everett J. Haskins of the 71st United States Infantry, died at the Parker Hill Hospital, after an illness largely brought on by effects of inhaling gas in France. Lieutenant Haskins went overseas with the 301st Infantry, and was later transferred to the 131st Machine Gun Battalion. He was commissioned in France. Lieutenant Haskins was thirty-nine years old, and was a South Boston boy.

COX ESCAPES IN PLATFORM CRASH

Two Men Hurt and Women Shaken Up When Stand Collapses at Bowling Green, Ky.

Bowling Green, Ky., Oct. 8.—Governor James M. Cox, Democratic presidential candidate, had another narrow escape from injury here when the platform on which he was standing collapsed just as he finished his speech.

The Governor was standing just on the edge of the part of the platform that collasped. A number of women were caught in the jam and some of them were badly shaken up, but no one was seriously hurt. One man had his wrist cut and another suffered a slight cut on his hand.

"DRY" AGENT BLISS WINS PROMOTION

Catarrh Will Go

Help Comes in Two Minutes—Complete Relief in a Few Weeks

Don't go hawking yourself sick every morning; it's cruel, it's harmful and it's unnecessary.

If after breathing Hyomei, the wonderworker, you are not rid of vile catarrh you can have your money back.

No stomach dosing—just take the little hard rubber pocket inhaler that comes with each outfit, and pour into it a few drops of Hyomei. Breathe it according to directions. In two minutes it will relieve you of that stuffed up feeling. Use it daily and in a few weeks you should be entirely free from catarrh.

Breathing Hyomei is a very pleasant and certain way to kill catarrh germs.

Get a Hyomei outfit today. It's sold by druggists everywhere with guarantee to quickly and safely end catarrh, croup, coughs, colds, sore throat and bronchitis or money back. It's inexpensive.

MI-O-NA
Ends indigestion

It relives stomach misery, sour stomach, belching and all stomach disease or money back. Large box of tablets at all druggists in all towns.

LEMON JUICE FOR FRECKLES

Girls! Make beauty lotion for a few cents—Try it!

Squeeze the juice of two lemons into a bottle containing three ounces of orchard white, shake well, and you have a quarter pint of the best freckle and tan lotion, and complexion beautifier, at very, very small cost.

Your grocer has the lemons and any drug store or toilet counter will supply three ounces of orchard white for a few cents. Massage this sweetly fragrant lotion into the face, neck, arms and hands each day and see how freckles and blemishes disappear and how clear, soft and rosy-white the skin becomes. Yes! It is harmless and never irritates.—Advertisement.

Home Face Peeling Becomes Popular

No complexion treatment yet discovered seems to have become so generally and so immediately popular as the mercolized wax process. Evidently the reason is that this method actually gets rid of a bad complexion, which can hardly be said of any other. To temporarily hide or bleach the defective skin with cosmetics cannot compare with the effect of literally removing the skin itself. Mercolized wax takes off the offending surface skin in flour-like particles, a little at a time, until there's none of it left. The new complexion thus produced exhibits a healthy glow and girlish beauty obtainable in no other way. This wax, which you can get at your druggist's, is applied at night in the same way you use cold cream, and washed off next morning.

Here is one thing that actually does remove wrinkles, and remove them quickly: Powdered saxolite, one ounce, dissolved in one-half pint witch hazel. Use as a face wash.—Advertisement.

MAN KILLED IN AUTO PLUNGE

Another Injured When Loaded Truck Drops Through Bridge at Hampton, N. H.

Manchester, N. H., Oct. 8.—One man is dead and another seriously injured as the result of an auto truck crashing through the old covered bridge which spans the Pemigewassett river, connecting Bristol and New Hampton, N. H.

Louis H. Kimball, aged thirty, who was driving the truck, was pinned under the wreckage and drowned.

Alton Dow, son of a member of the firm of Dow & Tilton, owners of the truck, suffered severe injuries.

The truck was carrying a capacity load of lumber from a lot in New Hampton to the Bristol railroad station for shipment and had reached the middle of the bridge, which is about 200 feet in length, when the floor collapsed and the auto dropped thirty feet into the shallow water below.

The lumber slid forward and threw Kimball into the water, pinning him to the bottom of the stream. Dow escaped the falling timber but was struck upon the head and severely jolted by the shock of the fall. He made a brave attempt, in spite of his painful injuries, to drag the boards dubon road at 3 p. m.

Absolute Comfort and Perfect Fit

Cantilevers are comfortable Shoes—thousands of wearers can testify to that.

They are good looking, too. The tilt of the heel and the natural innersole line distribute the weight properly, so that there is no strain in standing or walking, and the carriage is correct and easy. They are built to give plenty of toe room without sacrificing their trim silhouette. The smart, seasonable walking heel is comfortable as well as good looking.

The under-arch sole curves to fit the foot. Lacing the shoe pulls up this shank so that it supports the instep at every point. The small bones and muscles which constitute the arch of the foot are relieved of all strain by this under-arch support.

Cantilever Shoes have a flexible shank, which BENDS with every movement of the foot. This flexibility encourages a free, springy step, and with each step the muscles exercise and grow strong. Cantilever Shoes thus correct fallen arches.

Start Work on Niches for World War Flags

Under the direction of Superintendent of Buildings Fred H. Kimball, work has been started in the State House for the construction of four receptacles in the Hall of Flags for the regimental standards of Massachusetts military and naval organizations which fought in the Spanish-American and World Wars.

In the hall already are the receptacles for the flags of units which served in the Civil War. In one of the niches also is a statue of General William F. Bartlett, a Civil War officer. This will be removed to Memorial Hall in a spot now occupied by the Spanish War flags.

Auto Men's Straw Vote Walkover for Harding

The largest percentage yet given by any one group for any of the presidential candidates was recorded in the Boston American's nation-wide straw balloting today by Boston automobile dealers and workers, who give the Republican nominee an enormous plurality.

There were sixty-two ballots cast by the Boston automobile men. Of this number Harding received fifty-nine and Cox two. Watkins polled one vote and the other candidates drew blanks.

One large automobile concern canvassed gave every vote for Harding.

Light is also thrown on how the large department store employes are going to vote.

The occupation poll conducted by the Boston American has already shown that both capital and labor are standing squarely behind the candidacy of Senator Harding.

Now comes the groups representing the great mass of humanity which peoples the city business marts and shopping centres of the city.

PLURALITY FOR COX.

One of these groups, taken at the largest department store, shows Harding a tremendous favorite. He received 49 votes, while Cox polled 13, almost a four to one percentage.

The first aggregation of voters to give a plurality for Governor Cox was also recorded today.

This vote was taken in a restaurant in 125th street, New York city, among the men and women assembled there. The men gave Harding 17 votes and Cox 18. The women gave the Ohio Governor 23 and Harding 7 votes.

Boston street car men proved the surprise of the day. Out of 124 straw ballots collected from among this group, Harding receives 80 votes, while Cox ran behind with only 34 votes. This vote was taken at the Dudley street terminal of the Elevated system and at the Salem street, Medford, car barns, where the largest force in the employ of the company is working.

ELKS FOR HARDING.

Out of 99 Elks present at the Portland, Me., Elks Club, Senator Harding received 86 votes and Cox 11. The Maine percentage is running a trifle over the figures recorded in the sweeping Republican victory in the recent primaries, and supports the contention of the Harding forces that Maine will give a handsome plurality.

The grand total of ballots shows that out of the total number which have been crossed by voters of various occupations, Harding has received 6,770 against the 2,059 polled by Governor Cox. Debs, the Socialist, has pulled ahead of Watkins, having received 265 votes. Watkins, the Prohibition standard-bearer, comes next with 193 ballots and Christensen, who relies on the Farm-Labor vote, comes last with 177 out of the whole total.

LABOR STRONGLY REPUBLICAN.

The previous records of the American poll show labor firm for Harding.

DRIVE TO START FOR HIGH SCHOOL ORGAN

Manchester, N. H., Oct. 8. — The alumni of Manchester High School are to be asked to subscribe $20,000 for a pipe organ to be installed in the Practical Arts High School for which the contract has already been awarded and which will be completed early in the Spring. Preliminary steps have been taken for the organization of the alumni living in this city, some of whom graduated in classes previous to 1865.

President Lemuel H. Murlin of Boston University will address the first general assembly of the College of Liberal Arts on October 15 in Jacob Sleeper Hall.

UNLICENSED CHAUFFEUR COSTS GROCER $10 FINE

Lawrence, Oct. 8.—The court ruled Samuel Gelt, a Park street grocer, guilty on a charge of having an unlicensed chauffeur, hired by him as a meat cutter, and imposed a fine of $10.

The meat cutter was driving the car when the traffic officer hailed him for speeding. He drove on and a licensed chauffeur friend sought to help him out of the difficulty by changing places with him, besides playing a joke on the police.

The officer demanded to see the license and the latter was produced. When the chauffeur was summoned to court the truth came out. The case against the substitute chauffeur was dismissed.

DRIVER WHOSE MACHINE KILLED WOMAN IS FREED

Providence, Oct. 8.—Edmond Briand of Fall River, a motor-truck driver, was acquitted by a jury in the Superior Court here on a charge of gross negligence in causing the death of Miss Mary Buckley, who was run over and killed by his truck in front of the postoffice in Greenville, December 24, 1919.

SAGE TEA DANDY TO DARKEN HAIR

It's Grandmother's Recipe to Bring Back Color and Lustre to Hair

You can turn gray, faded hair beautifully dark and lustrous almost over night if you'll get a bottle of "Wyeth's Sage and Sulphur Compound" at any drug store. Millions of bottles of this old famous Sage Tea Recipe, improved by the addition of other ingredients, are sold annually, says a well known druggist here, because it darkens the hair so naturally and evenly that no one can tell it has been applied.

Those whose hair is turning gray or becoming faded have a surprise awaiting them, because after one or two applications the gray hair vanishes and your locks become luxuriantly dark and beautiful.

This is the age of youth. Gray-haired, unattractive folks aren't wanted around, so get busy with Wyeth's Sage and Sulphur Compound tonight and you'll be delighted with your dark, handsome hair and your youthful appearance within a few days.—Advertisement.

5 DEAD IN BLAST ON TANK SHIP

Score Injured, Many Seriously, in Gass Explosion in Brooklyn Dry Dock

By Universal Service.

New York, Oct. 8.—Five men are known to be dead, three are missing and believed to be dead, six have been rushed to the hospital in a critical condition, and perhaps a score of others are suffering minor injuries, all the result of the explosion of the tanker E. C. Crowe, as it lay in a South Brooklyn drydock.

The explosion was caused by the ignition of a pocket of gas by an acetylene torch. Two of the five who are dead have not been identified.

The police and fire departments today are combing the twisted debris for trace of the missing men. The wives and children of the missing men are on the ship's after deck, the part of the ship which was least effected by the explosion.

When the explosion occurred more than 100 machinists and boiler-makers were working on the ship, most of them being trapped below deck. The later were rescued by firemen wearing gas masks.

PROF. BAILEY TO CONDUCT ADULTS' SUNDAY SCHOOL

Professor Albert E. Bailey of the Boston University School of Religious Education has been engaged to conduct a Sunday Bible Institute for adults in the Old First Congregational Church in Newton Centre. This is an attempt to gather together under systematic instruction people who feel themselves too old for regular Sunday school sessions, or whose interest in the old-fashioned type of Sunday school has waned. The work will begin next Sunday.

G. O. P. CLUB AT HARVARD TO LAUNCH CAMPAIGN

With over a thousand members already enrolled and its organization now completed the Harding-Coolidge Club of Harvard is about to launch an active campaign in that university.

Harding and Coolidge have consented to be honorary chairmen of the organization. The executive committee of the club includes J. N. Hamlin '22 as chairman, Arnold Horween, the football captain, Robert Emmons, leader of the baseball nine, Hermon D. Smith and David W. Bailey of the Crimson.

The initial meeting will be held next Thursday night at the Union when a speaker of national prominence will be present. Besides its other activities, the club will take part in the Republican torchlight parade, October 28.

WAR BRIDE GOT MONEY AND QUIT

Veteran Gave Her State Allotments and $10,000 Insurance Policy; He Asks Divorce

Charging that his wife had him make out his $10,000 insurance policy in her name and insisted that he turn over his State allotments from time to time, Roland [illegible]keman, an electrical engineer of Waltham, told Judge Fessenden in the Suffolk [illegible] Divorce Court that she failed to fulfill her marriage relations with him when [illegible] did so and [illegible] refused to live with him.

[illegible] seeks to have the marriage annulled. The ceremony was performed in Washington, D. C., May 19, 1918, when he was a soldier stationed at Fort Meyer, Va. His wife, Louise M. Breitubaut, lived at No. 651 Broadway, Chelsea. The court took the matter under advisement.

Joseph Engler, a custom house inspector, charged his wife, Lillian H., with desertion and with being friendly with Policeman Harvey S. Watson of Los Angeles, Cal., when he (Engler) went there with her so she could regain her health. He charges she is still in California and refuses to come and live with him. He produced letters alleged to have passed between his wife and Watson.

Rev. Albert C. Bowles, an Episcopalian clergyman of Goffstown, N. H., was granted a decree of nullity from his wife, Mrs. Rhoda Gough Bowles, on the grounds of "impotency." They were married in St. Mary's Episcopal Church, East Boston, in June, 1916.

Mrs. Kate Allen, a vaudeville actress, was married to Charles A. Allen, a New York actor, September 4, 1907. She asks for a divorce on the charge of cruel and abusive treatment. They lived at the home of her father, Adolph Rosenland, No. 15 Lyman street, West End. She testified that her husband was a "gambler" and beat her unmercifully. She is a prima donna in the "Happyland" company.

Stearns B. U. Lecturer

Louis Stearns of the Bridgewater Normal School will give the second lecture in the supervision of Children's Gardening Course given at the Boston University School of Religious Education every Saturday. The subject will be "Starting Hardy Perennials."

PROVIDENCE YOUTH HANGS SELF WITH BELT

Providence, Oct. 8.—James O'Neil, aged 25, of No. 167 O'C[illegible] street, committed suicide here by hanging. He left the house after supper and he was not seen until John K[illegible], who lives in an upper tenement of the house, went to the cellar and found him hanging from the ceiling by his belt. Medical Examiner William H. Magill stated that the young man was probably mentally deficient.

NEW LOW PRICES—WHERE EVER POSSIBLE

CONSERVATION has been the foundation and thereby the savior of the largest mercantile establishments in the country — to teach your child how to walk too early results in crooked legs to hurry a structure before its foundation has been properly set means the ruination of your building; and so it is this COMMON LAW OF CONSERVATION AND GRADUAL PROGRESSION must guide every life and every business

Common sense does not permit us to believe that prices will tumble with a crash it is impossible, for if such were the case many large manufacturers and producers would be forced to bankruptcy; this would certainly do more harm than good

Well, what of future prices, you ask. 'Tis true prices have been lowered, but LOWERED ACCORDING TO THE LAW OF CONSERVATION AND GRADUAL PROGRESSION. OUR PRICES ARE LOWERED IN EVERY INSTANCE where there is a drop in the market; OUR STOCKS ARE BEING ADJUSTED fairly and NEW LOW PRICES APPEAR wherever market conditions permit

COURTESY THE KEYNOTE OF SHEPARD SERVICE

A night of terror in Galway, Ireland, in which two civilians and a policeman were killed, is tragically described in the Connaught Tribune. The first installment of this remarkable story, showing conditions in Ireland, and depicting the activities of the "Black and Tans" is printed today. It follows:

Galway City was the scene of alarming tragedies early on Thursday morning, as a result of which two [illegible]ans and a policeman lost their lives.

As far as can be ascertained in the different circumstances of obtaining accurate details the shooting may be briefly summarized as follows:

The dead civilians are:

James Quirke, twenty-three, jeweler at Mr. Jeremiah O'Donovan's watchmaking and jewelry establishment, William street, Galway, a native of [illegible] City.

John M[illegible], twenty, shop assistant at Messrs. [illegible] & [illegible] hardware establishment, William street, Galway; he lived at Bohermore, Galway.

The dead policeman was Constable F. Cromm, twenty-four, of the Eglinton street station, Galway, a native of England.

When the mail train from Dublin arrived at Galway at twelve o'clock midnight on Wednesday, Constable Cromm, who was on detective duty, brandished a revolver. Some accounts state he fired shots among a crowd waiting for the Dublin evening papers. In an attempt to disarm him he shot Mulvoy. As he was [illegible] his revolver at another [illegible] Cromm himself was shot. Cromm and Mulvoy died in the Infirmary.

DETAILS OF THE TRAGEDIES.

At 2:30 a. m. the police in Eglinton street broke out. They took Quirke from his lodgings and riddled his body with bullets. Volleys were fired throughout the town and at least three or four civilians had remarkable escapes. The house of Patrick Broderick, Prospect Hill, was considerably damaged by fire.

The actual occupation of Cromm in the R. I. C. cannot be exactly ascertained. He had, it is stated, a year's service and had been in Galway for the past fortnight. He was commonly designated a Black and Tan, but according to some reports, he was utilized solely for detective duty. It was in the execution of this duty, it is further stated, that he was on the platform of the railway station to meet the twelve train on Wednesday night.

It is understood that he was accompanied by another policeman who was not touched at all.

What happened at the railway station is not sufficiently clear to enable us to state anything authoritatively. According to certain stories Cromm was under the influence of drink; other eye witnesses assert that he was sober. As to what took place after the train arrived, reliance may be placed that the following account of the awful proceedings is the correct one. The greatest bulk of evidence goes to show that Cromm was the first person to fire, and that Mulvoy was the first to be shot. This is taken as an undisputed fact and from diligent inquiries the following seems to be the accurate detail of what happened afterward in an almost incredibly short space of time.

As is usual every night, a group of people were waiting for the evening papers which arrive by the 12 o'clock train. When the train pulled in at the platform the crowd rushed towards the newsboys who were taking out the papers, as since the beginning of the hunger-strike of the Lord Mayor of Cork there are not enough papers to meet the demand. It appears that when Cromm saw the people pressing in on the platform he immediately whipped out his revolver and brandished it threateningly at the crowd. It does not appear that he actually fired at this moment, but when the crowd saw his actions they formed into a knot. Outside the station he fired two or three shots in the air, and afterwards putting his revolver—or more likely it was an automatic pistol—under his left arm, he took deliberate aim and fired back at Mulvoy, who was standing near, hitting him in the right forehead. The crowd then rushed towards Cromm, who got knocked down, and while on the ground he was [illegible] the crowd again [illegible] [illegible] of shooting [illegible] was fired hitting him in the [illegible].

Another version states that M[illegible] had jumped onto Cromm's back when [illegible]d jumped onto Cromm's [illegible] when the attempt was made to disarm the latter, and it was then Cromm shot him. Both men were shot almost at the same spot, close to the entrance to the platform. A pool of blood is to be seen at the spot, which is now marked by two rows of stones in the shape of a cross where Mulvoy lay. A military officer who arrived by train notified the police of the shooting.

Both men were taken to the county hospital without much delay. Cromm was admitted first, and died almost immediately. Mulvoy, though unconscious, lived for almost two hours.

THE POLICE OUTBREAK.

As near as can be stated it was 2:30 a. m. when the police left their station on their terrible mission. Whether they went in one batch or that there were two or more groups operating in different portions of the town is not known, as there was nobody abroad at the time. At all events Broderick's was one of the first houses visited. Having secured admission they at once demanded John Broderick to come forward. Broderick is a young man of twenty-four or so employed as a carpenter at Messrs. McDonogh & Sons. While some of the police remained in the hallway, others dashed upstairs to Broderick's room and called on him to come out quickly. Broderick asked for time to dress, and only clad in his shirt and trousers he was pulled out of his room and on to the road. While one section of the police—who it is stated, wore uniforms and were unmasked—had Broderick outside, others sprinkled petrol on the furniture in the parlor at the front of the house and then set fire to the room. When the flames spread, the other occupants found themselves practically caged in their rooms. John Broderick was taken down the street in the direction of Eyre-square.

The fire in Broderick's was noticed by a little girl living on the opposite side of the street. She immediately gave the alarm, and other neighbors were also aroused. Teh scene at this juncture was terror striking. Amid the cries of the women in the house and the calls for help volley after volley of rifle shots were discharged along the streets of the city. War cries were raised abroad, dogs howled and barked piteously, and the din awoke little children who screamed in alarm at the noises.

After much difficulty and only when considerable damage was done to the interior of the house, was the fire in [illegible] It is alleged [illegible] Broderick had [illegible] of the police [illegible] who were [illegible] close to [illegible] were to [illegible] this [illegible] scattered [illegible] work [illegible] escaped from [illegible] fired several [illegible] only received a slight [illegible]

'Pussyfoot' Sees 'Dry' England in Decade

London, Oct. 8.—William E. "Pussyfoot" Johnson, on his return to England announced that he was surprised at the splendid results attained by prohibition in the United States.

"The law is being enforced with great efficiency considering the difficulties," he said.

Johnson is now touring Great Britain in support of the British prohibition movement.

"The British working man will certainly give up his beer," he said, "when he realizes that no wet country can compete against a dry one. I shall not be surprised if this country goes dry in ten years."

GROWING DEAF WITH HEAD NOISES? TRY THIS

If you are growing hard of hearing and fear Catarrhal Deafness or if you have roaring, rumbling, hissing noises in your ears go to your druggist and get 1 ounce of Parmint (double strength), and add to it 1/4 pint of hot water and a little granulated sugar. Take 1 tablespoonful four times a day.

This will often bring quick relief from the distressing head noises. [illegible] nostrils should open, breathing become easy and the mucus stop dropping into the throat. It is easy to prepare, costs little and is pleasant to take. Anyone who is threatened with Catarrhal Deafness or who has head noises should give this prescription a trial.—Advertisement.

Sheep—Not Monkey Glands if Run Down

Get Them at Your Druggist in Tablet Form Combined with Iron.

"We should live to be a thousand; old age is a disease and not a condition," said a prominent scientist recently. Looking into the history of long life in an effort to bear out this remarkable assertion, we find instances where people have evidently lived to be 160 years of age.

In each case, it is reported, the glands were found to be in an exceptionally healthy condition, showing the presence of unusual gland power. And there are apparently many cases where animal glands proved of great value in treating run-down persons of insufficient gland-power.

Human Glands

A simple way to understand the gland system of the human body is to regard it as a set of storage batteries, which holds electric power ready for use until released to operate motors or electric lights. The human glands secrete a glandular essence, which, when released into the blood, the life stream of the body, acts to maintain the healthful operation of the cell building process.

Causes of Run-Down Glands

When great strains are put upon mind or body the system of nerves and cells which depend upon the gland's help are said to drain the glandular system of its life elements. In an attempt to restore their losses the glands often break down and become weak, degenerated apologies of their normal selves. Among the things which cause run-down glands are disease, sickness, accident, dissipation, overwork and excesses of other kinds.

$1,000.00 Guarantee

Glandex Compound is positively guaranteed by the Glandex Company, Inc., of 244 West 2[illegible]th Street, New York, to contain the genuine desiccated substance (popularly known as gland extracts) from certain ductless glands of sheep and cattle. $1,000 in cash will be paid to anyone proving this statement to be untrue. Glandex also contains peptonate of iron, calcium glycerophosphate and nux vomica, which also help nature to restore health and strength.

Gland Treatment Explained

It is plain that when the glands are deficient in the potent secretions they must be supplied from other sources. One much talked of method of doing this has been through a surgical operation by transplanting monkey glands. Another method recorded is where actual gland substance, after scientific preparation, has been taken internally like a pill with results delightfully pleasing to patients. While glandular treatment by surgical operation may not be practical except in a few cases, gland substance to be administered in tabloid form, is available to all and in many cases marked improvement in health has been noted in a very short time.

New Kind of Tonic

A preparation which supplies gland substances from sheep and cattle in combination with Iron, Nux Vomica and Calcium Glycerophosphate can now be obtained at most drug stores under the name of Glandex Compound. This product supplies the means for helping the glands in the human body that have become run-down and also provides iron for weak, thin blood—the other ingredients induce appetite and tend to overcome nervous conditions.

You Can Try It Without Risk

So many people suffering from run-down conditions and lack of strength, have used Glandex Compound that you owe it to yourself to try it if you feel the need of a tonic or if you are weak and run-down. Glandex Compound rarely fails to bring benefit, but so that you may test it out in your case, the Glandex Company, Inc., authorize any druggist to refund the full purchase price if you do not experience benefit in two weeks.

"HUMORESQUE"

by
FANNIE HURST
Featuring ALMA RUBENS
Directed By Frank Borzage.

MORE pathos than "The Music Master," more humor than "Potash & Perlmutter," "HUMORESQUE," which was published as a story in Cosmopolitan Magazine, has been made into a screen classic that will live for ages. Its noble presentation of the sublime love of a mother; her sacrifices and ultimate reward, are told as only Fannie Hurst can tell them. "HUMORESQUE" has been picturized by Frank Borzage in a manner that stamps him as a great director. Vera Gordon, Dore Davidson and Gaston Glass, with more than a thousand others, support Miss Rubens.

"Humoresque" was selected by F. F. Plimpton as the best photoplay on the market and booked for a showing at the

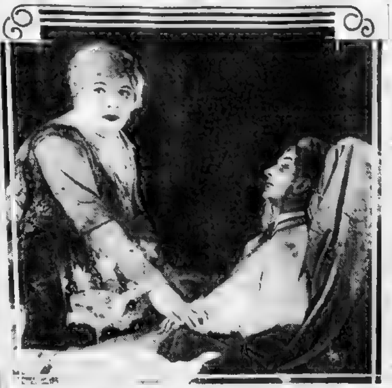
'Humoresque' Coming to Tremont Temple



Vera Gordon and Gaston Glass in "Humoresque." This gripping film has broken attendance records in New York.

"Humoresque," the appealing and compelling story of mother love which opens at Tremont Temple Monday evening, October 11, has taken Broadway by storm. The reception it has received at the Criterion Theatre [illegible] of what may be expected throughout the country.

Every sign points to the result that this Cosmopolitan production, featuring Alma Rubens and released by Famous Players-Lasky Corporation as a Paramount picture, will [illegible] very close to establishing new box-office records wherever it is shown, just as it is at the Criterion Theatre.

BIG DEMAND FOR FILM.

A brief history of the run of "Humoresque" makes inspiring reading from the angle of the box office. The production was opened at the Criterion on May 29, 1920, for a run of two weeks. So great was the demand to see this product on that the run was continued and again continued until it became necessary for Famous Players-Lasky Corporation to withdraw the picture from that theatre in order to make room for other great Paramount pictures for pre-release runs.

It was [illegible] to permit "Humoresque" to remain at the Criterion through its twelfth week and then to transfer it with all its settings and [illegible] which have reflected great credit to Hugo Riesenfeld, managing director, to the Rivoli Theatre for one week, then to move it to the Rialto Theatre for [illegible] weeks, after which it went to the Marcus Loew Metropolitan circuit.

BREAKS ALL RECORDS.

The run at the Criterion Theatre is unprecedented for a theatre of its size in the history of either the motion pictures or of the spoken drama. The Criterion seats [illegible] persons. The average daily attendance for ten weeks was 2,129. On Saturday of the [illegible] week there were 2,733 paid admissions to the four performances, or [illegible] persons more than there were seats at those performances. And the eleventh week has started as auspiciously.

It is estimated the number of paid admissions in the Times square theatre section of New York alone will be more than 300,000.

"Humoresque" has broken every record at the Criterion Theatre both for daily and weekly attendance, and in addition it has turned away enough possible patrons to have filled the house many times over.

Jiffy-Jell

Real-Fruit Desserts
Flavors in Vials

One Dessert Free

A Real-Fruit Jiffy-Jell Dessert—At Your Grocery This Week

Gifts to users

Dessert Spoons

We supply dessert spoons, teaspoon size, in this exquisite pattern of Wm. Rogers & Son AA silverplate. Guaranteed 20 years. No advertising on spoons. For the first spoon send 2 JJ trade-marks, plus 10 cents for postage and packing. Then we will offer you balance of a set.

This week we will buy you a Jiffy-Jell dessert. Get it from your grocer and we will pay him for it. See offer below.

It will be Loganberry Jiffy-Jell—our finest berry flavor. It is free to you if you will buy one other flavor with it.

For Every Woman

This offer is made to old users and new. It is made to the lovers of Jiffy-Jell to start the new season. It is made to new users to let them know the Jiffy-Jell delights.

Every home should now put in a variety of Jiffy-Jell. People need fruit daily. Here you have eight fruits on call, at trifling cost, with a moment's trouble.

Fruit in Bottles

Jiffy-Jell alone contains the real fruit essence, in liquid form in glass. We crush the fruit, condense the juice and seal it. A bottle of this rich fruit essence comes in every package.

Thus you get a real fruit dainty, not a mere fruit taste. You get the delights and healthfulness of fruit.

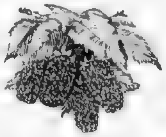
Fruit in Plenty

You get a wealth of fruit. We use, for instance, half a pineapple to flavor one Jiffy-Jell dessert. The fruit is crushed in Hawaii—fruit too ripe to ship.

Ten Flavors in Glass Vials

A bottle in each package

Mint Lime Cherry
Raspberry Loganberry
Strawberry Pineapple
Orange Lemon Coffee

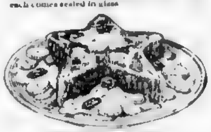


Loganberry

Our finest berry flavor. A wealth of this condensed fruit juice comes in the bottle—sealed.

Bottle in Package

Each fruit flavor is condensed fruit juice, and each comes sealed in glass.



Made with style—H—mold

Dessert for Six

A package serves six in mold form, or 12 if you whip the jell. And it usually costs less than the fruit alone would cost.

Jiffy-Jell

Real-Fruit Desserts

With condensed crushed fruits in liquid form in vials

So with all fruits. Each bottle contains the essence of much ripe fruit condensed. The fruit alone would often cost you more than the whole dessert.

Jiffy-Jell comes ready sweetened. It comes acidulated with lemon or grape acid. You simply add boiling water, as directed on package, then the fruit essence from the vial, and let cool. Thus, for a few cents, you can serve a real fruit dainty, rich in fruit—light, healthful and delightful.

Millions of homes now enjoy it. You also will adopt it when you once compare it with the old-style gelatin desserts.

One-Week Offer

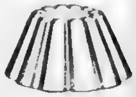
For this week only we make this offer. Buy from your grocer one or more packages. Then present the coupon and he will give you a package of Loganberry Jiffy-Jell free. We will pay him for it.

Serve it as our treat—enough for six. Accept the offer, then use the trade-marks to get the [illegible] you want. Cut out the coupon so you won't forget.

For Salad Jell Jiffy-Jell in lime fruit flavor makes a tart, green salad jell. Serve with your salads or mix the salad in before cooling. Then you have a zestful salad loaf. Or mix in meat scraps and make an appetizing meat loaf.

For Mint Jell Mint flavor makes a green mint jell to serve with meats, hot or cold. Or serve as an appetizing side dish.

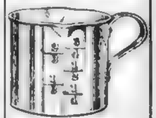
Gifts to users



Set of Six Dessert Molds

These individual dessert molds, of aluminum, come in sets of six assorted styles. The six will serve a full package of Jiffy-Jell. Send 6 JJ trade-marks for the set, valued at 60 cents. We pay postage.

See also the offers on aluminum pint molds below.



Jiffy-Cup

An aluminum half-pint measuring cup. Fill twice with water to dissolve one package Jiffy-Jell. Use as a standard cup in all recipes. Send 2 trade-marks for this cup, postpaid.

Other Gifts to Users

Send us the JJ trade-marks in the circle on the front of each Jiffy-Jell package. Send 6 for any pint mold or the Set of Six. Send 2 for the Jiffy-Cup or 2 and 10 cents for the spoon.

The Pint Molds are as follows, valued at 50 cents each.
Style—B—Heart-shaped.
Style—C—Fluted.
Style—D—Salad mold.
Style—E—Pinnacle mold.
Style—H—Star-shaped.

With any mold we send a recipe book, also pictures of all the molds, etc., which we offer free. Thus we help you serve this dainty in attractive ways.

KLOBY AND SIEGAL FANS HOLD WORLD'S SERIES

By JACK CONWAY.

Scene—Composing room near the baseball wire to Ebbets Field. Returns are coming in from the third game of the World's Series.

Characters—Telegraph operator, a baseball fan. Chief telegraph operator, an old time athlete according to his own admissions. Sub-editor, a Kloby [illegible] Lawrence. Happy, king of the Newsboys. Compositor, [illegible] has made an idol out of Siegal. Printer's devil, a kid that lives in East Boston.

Telegraph operator—Olson walks.

Sub-editor—Too bad Young Kloby doesn't play for those Dodgers. He'd knock Olson home with a circuit wallop.

Compositor—If Kloby can play ball, he better apply for a job with some club for his career as a fighter will be over after his bout with Nate Siegal on Columbus Day.

Sub-editor—There were some birds telling Babe Ruth to get a job driving a truck before he started batting out home runs this year. Where are those guys now?

Compositor—Kloby aint no Babe Ruth any more than a married man is boss in his own home.

Happy—Whaddayamean a married man can't be boss of the roost?

Compositor—I'm no victrola. Only give my records once.

Sub-editor—All of which hasn't got anything to do with what Kloby will hand out to Siegal.

Telegraph operator—Olson ambled to second when Johnston dropped a suicide bunt which was fielded to first by O'Neill.

Compositor—Get the suicide stuff. That explain's Kloby's position. He's been meeting a lot of setups and will now get a beating as he'll be pitted against a real fighter.

Sub-editor—Kloby is the greatest fighter in the world.

Printer's devil—Kayo Muggsy is the king of the ring.

Chief telegraph operator—When I was a young fellow

Happy—The class in ancient history is now called to order.

Chief telegraph operator—You can't stop me, I tell you. Back twenty years ago, I could lick a couple of bums like Kloby and Siegal easily.

Happy—I never saw your record in any of the books.

Chief telegraph operator—Well, perhaps you didn't, but I knew John L. Sullivan, Jake Kilrain, Charley Mitchell and all the great fighters of the old days.

Happy—I'm a friend of General Edwards, but that doesn't mean I'm a great general.

Printer's devil—I bet Muggsy could have beaten Sullivan.

Telegraph operator—Griffith was safe at first on Sewell's error. I wish you guys wouldn't talk fight when the World's Serious is in progress.

Sub-editor—As if Kloby isn't more important than a World's Serious.

Compositor—He won't be after next Tuesday at any rate.

Sub-editor—I don't know what's going to upset his career. Didn't Kloby almost knock out Paddy Flynn, while the Everett welterweight gave Siegal two of the hardest battles of his career?

Compositor—And didn't Paul Doyle wallop the everlasting daylight out of Kloby, while Siegal defeated Doyle?

Telegraph operator—Olson scored and Griffith went to second on Wheat's single. This is a thrilling game.

Printer's devil—I say Muggsy is the king.

Chief telegraph operator—Maybe Kloby and Siegal are a couple of wildcats, but I maintain Stanley Ketchel was quite a fighter.

Sub-editor—Ketchel's a dead one.

Compositor—And so will Kloby be a dead one as far as his ring future is concerned after Nate bends him with body punches. Kloby is easy to hit. And how Siegal likes to smash away at those kind of fellows.

Sub-editor—I never saw Kloby do any backing away. He has sore feet from chasing most of his opponents. If Siegal stands up and fights, the bout won't last more than five rounds.

Compositor—Of course it won't. Nate told me he was going to finish Kloby up quick for the glory of the 82nd.

Sub-editor—Well, maybe Kloby wants to get a little more of that glory stuff for the Y. D.

Happy—Kloby is a 10 to 7 betting favorite, but I think Siegal is a great short end.

Printer's devil—And so is Mugsy.

Sub-editor—That was before he met Kloby.

Telegraph operator—Griffith scored on Myers' single. Mails went in to pitch for Cleveland.

Chief telegraph operator—When I played ball for the Kennebunk team of the old Eastern league—

Telegraph operator—Koney and Kilduff out. Two runs.

Sub-editor—Kloby will put Siegal out easier than Mails stopped the Dodgers.

Compositor—Didn't Kloby also think he was going to kayo Johnny Dundee? That bout was also a Columbus Day affair. Of course Johnny pranced home in front.

Printer's devil—I bet two bucks on Cleveland to win. Is there any guy who wants to bet two dollars even on the Indians. I now like those Dodgers.

Chief telegraph operator—When Cy Young and Bill Dineen—

Happy—As Oliver Twist would say—

Curtain.

To correct an impression

Notice

MANY smokers have the impression that the Ricoro, corona size, is 15 cents. This is a natural, reasonable impression.

You look at the Ricoro corona, and it looks like a 15 cent cigar, unmistakably. Smoke it, and you exclaim: "This is the best 15 cent cigar I ever smoked!"

We publish this advertisement to set the public right about the Ricoro, corona size, cigar.

The Ricoro, corona size, is a 15 cent cigar, but it is not 15 cents. It is 11 cents.

We repeat in big type:

NOT 15¢ — 11¢

Not 15¢ -11c

One reason why the Ricoro, corona size, is not 15 cents—but 11 cents—is that it comes from Porto Rico duty free. It has tropical quality at a domestic price. Its tobacco acquires an unsurpassable excellence there on those Porto Rican hillsides, and a mildness and bouquet beyond compare.

PENN STATE ELEVEN HAS SLIGHT EDGE ON BIG GREEN TEAM

BLUE AND WHITE HAS FEW OUT

Dartmouth Somewhat Handicapped by Injuries, but Case Is by No Means Hopeless

By CHARLES E. PARKER.

The fellow who planted the little hamlet of State College, Pa., so all-fired far from civilization is due for a number of knocks tomorrow afternoon, for in the large cluster of college contests offered on that date that inaccessible village draws the one most rich in promise.

Dartmouth and Penn State, which teams rivaled those of Syracuse and Colgate for the honor position in Eastern football last year, are to meet in State College, and while the 1920 title race is by no means confined to these two teams there is a not remote possibility that the Eastern title may turn on the State College score.

Penn State will enter the game a slight favorite, for it lost fewer members of its last year's team than did Dartmouth, and thus far has escaped the injury hoodoo that has been keeping the star players of Dartmouth and even their [illegible] trooping back and forth from college infirmaries.

Dartmouth Prospects by No Means Hopeless

However, Penn State's two appearances thus far this season have not been sufficiently impressive to hold back Dartmouth hopes. The Blue and White team was scored upon in its first game and won its second contest by the rather small score of 13 to 0, whereas Dartmouth in its single preliminary clash piled up 31 points and kept its opponent far from its goal line. A more or less continuous shuffling about of Penn State linemen also would indicate that the Green's chances of victory are nearly equal to those of Bezdek's team.

At the Stadium, Coach Fisher's Harvard team meets Valparaiso; at University Heights Frank Cavanaugh's Boston College eleven opens its season with a much stronger Fordham team than the Maroon and Gold figured upon, while at Braves Field, Boston University tackles New Hampshire State. Each of these contests possesses many interesting aspects and it will be with difficulty that the unattached local gridiron fan will select the scene of action.

Since North Carolina chalked up a victory over the Navy, its meeting with Yale at New Haven offers unexpected [illegible]. The Pittsburgh-West Virginia battle at Pittsburgh is another of [illegible] promise, and all over the long list of games for the day there are a great [illegible] battles [illegible]

BROOKLYN HAS BIG EDGE IN PITCHING OVER CLEVELAND

ROBBY CAN PICK FROM SEVERAL

Speaker, on the Other Hand, Is Practically Forced to Use Coveleskie Tomorrow

By NICK FLATLEY.

Cleveland [illegible] With the arrival of the Indians [illegible] here today to [illegible] the World Series battle begun in Flatbush Tuesday, Cleveland [illegible] went sky high. [illegible] excitement over the first championship team and the first World Series it ever has had, the Forest City fairly throbbed with enthusiasm and expectation.

The fact [illegible] the Indians have come home [illegible] to the [illegible] so far [illegible] them [illegible] interest of Forest City fans.

The reserved seats for all four games [illegible] officials of the Cleveland [illegible] for days.

As was the case in Brooklyn there [illegible] kind [illegible] is said [illegible] hundreds of fans will be disappointed.

Dodgers Work Out On Indians' Park

The rival World Series performers got a chance to rest up today but Manager Robinson [illegible] the members of the Dodgers out to League Park this afternoon and gave them a light workout.

The members of the Indians scattered to their various homes on arrival here and about the only practice they will get [illegible] will be practice with Manager Speaker.

Despite the fact that the Dodgers have taken two of the three games played [illegible] Speaker's pitching staff has [illegible] hurler who was able to [illegible] the Dodgers [illegible] Cleveland fans that [illegible] boys are going to be the next world's champions.

The bugs here look to see the Tribe do a [illegible] up the count by winning [illegible] game, and then forge to the front.

Speaker [illegible] Coveleskie [illegible] three days' rest [illegible] the home crowd [illegible] more [illegible] than he was in the first game.

Coveleskie Slated to Pitch Tomorrow

On Sunday Jim Bagby probably will get his [illegible] a game from the [illegible] Bagby did not pitch [illegible] Wednesday [illegible] figured to give [illegible] a battle.

After [illegible] and Bagby at [illegible] will have [illegible] figures [illegible] first kind of [illegible] performance [illegible] at his style of [illegible] on Coombs [illegible]

Manager [illegible] along that he [illegible] Marquard back at the Indians [illegible] Smith [illegible] can beat [illegible] should the Rube get his second chance [illegible]

However Robby has [illegible] or two [illegible] Jeff Pfeffer [illegible] the [illegible] no matter which side of the platter they swing from.

Dodgers Have Edge in Pitching Line

Prior to the start of the series a good many of the experts [illegible] figured [illegible] the superior [illegible] work of the Indians [illegible] greater [illegible] strength [illegible] age they [illegible] this year would stand [illegible] series.

To date this has been far from the [illegible] Brooklyn [illegible] also [illegible] the bat in fine fashion [illegible] depends [illegible] how Robinson and Speaker [illegible] their pitchers from now on and whether or not the batters that have scored victories will be able to repeat.

Robby can afford to take a chance [illegible] Speaker's [illegible] If Tris [illegible] there will be a world's championship banner flying in Flatbush.

PARKER AND GIBBS IN GO AT COMMONWEALTH

The best battle of the two or three [illegible] this [illegible] Murray's [illegible] between Charlie Parker and [illegible] Gibbs. There wasn't a bit of loafing about that fight; the lads went to it hammer and tongs.

Many attempts have been made since to tie this pair up for a return meeting, a real battle over the distance. The Commonwealth A. A. has succeeded. Charlie and [illegible] have it out Saturday night in the show to be seen at Scenic Temple.

Gibbs will [illegible] bothered Parker [illegible] figured [illegible] but when Joe started working [illegible] Parker naturally swung [illegible] the pace. And then [illegible] hasn't been calmed down [illegible]

There will also be two six-rounders and an eight. In the sixes Pat Kelly of South Boston meets Young [illegible] of [illegible] N. H., and Young Tansy will tackle [illegible] Curley of Roxbury. The [illegible] is yet to be arranged.

SHUGRUE AND BROWN IN WORCESTER BOUT

The [illegible] A. C., a newly-organized club with quarters at the Lincoln Park Theatre, [illegible] will get under way tomorrow night, with Johnny Shugrue of Waterbury [illegible] and Frankie Brown of New York in the feature contest. [illegible] Charlie Pilkington [illegible] failing to give the best of satisfaction.

Brown has met Battling Reddy, Ralph Brady, Johnny Kilbane and others, never failing to give a good account of himself. An interesting contest may be looked for. In the semi-final of eight rounds Young George Gardner of Lowell meets Jimmy Kenney of Wakefield. There will also be two sixes.

BRAVES VICTORIOUS IN FALL RIVER GAME

Fall River [illegible] the Braves defeated the local American Legion baseball team 7 to 2.

BUGS BAER'S COLUMN

THE Master Mind has fallen off like the beer advertising. He had conduits laid to buy up both bat boys [illegible] gave [illegible] to [illegible] Eskimos [illegible] picked the [illegible] to cop yesterday. The Master Mind was right, but there was a mix-up in the calendar factory.

* * *

THE bribes are going wrong. The Master Bean paid one million washers to have the foul lines switched and another million to have a feather duster substituted for [illegible] with broom. [illegible] to be [illegible] in the Brooklyn water bucket and the players' bench [illegible] Rubber [illegible] were [illegible] in the grounds [illegible] grass cutter and the automatic scoreboard [illegible] balls would be called strikes and strikes balls.

THE plans were [illegible] But the Master Mind [illegible] the Master Mind. Give him two guesses and he will tell which way the elevator is going. He got [illegible] once in a town with [illegible] the Master Mind is going to take you for a long walk yet.

* * *

THE Mind is sharpening up Tris Speaker's spikes. He has four outlaw barbers honing them now. [illegible] sharp that when he starts after a pop fly he will be digging [illegible] instead of running. When Speaker starts to steal [illegible] he [illegible] and they'll have to lower Kilduff on a rope so Petey can tag Spoke out.

* * *

THIS is the big ace. Instead of a hole card the Cleveland team will find that their card is a hole. The Master Bean is busier than [illegible] the Master Skill [illegible] That's what makes [illegible] He never gives up. [illegible] the last World Series a few [illegible] the Yanks [illegible] Gardner, Felsch, [illegible] for nothing. [illegible] for cash.

* * *

THE Master Mind is working to get this series under control. Did you pipe those airplanes flapping over the field? That was the Master Mind looking for the weak spots in the Eighteenth Amendment. At the proper time he will fly over and drop a sponge in the official announcer's megaphone.

* * *

DID you spot Tommy Connolly sterilizing the baseball after each throw? Tommy knows that the Master Mind has slipped a Fed League pill into the works. Nobody poked less than .500 in the Fed League because the ball was made of rabbit skin with a greyhound filler.

SPEAKER MADE BAD BLUNDER WHEN HE PICKED CALDWELL

BONE PLAY COSTLY TO INDIANS

Mails Is Called to the Rescue When the Game Is Lost

By HUGH S. FULLERTON.

Brooklyn, Oct. 8—Cleveland expected, tried to slip over a second-string pitcher and beat Brooklyn. Robby tried it in the first game and got licked. Tris Speaker tried it in the third contest, and the game was lost before there was a chance to demonstrate whether or not he was correct. An error and a Texas League fly, which dropped over the infield, gave the Dodgers two runs, which they made good for the second victory over Cleveland.

All the powerful Indians got out of the day's work against the offerings of Sherrod Smith was one run. They were lucky to get that, and vastly unlucky not to get four or five more, for while it is painful to confess it the Dodgers needed a tremendous amount of help from the goddess of fortune to hold the lead.

Luck really decided the contest that is luck abetted by the work of Sewell, who seems to be wabbling badly. The fact is that Sewell has shown so poorly in the three games that he seems to have upset the entire infield work of the Indians. Wambsganss is doing all the covering, Gardner is neglecting some of his own essential duties trying to help Sewell, which, of course, he cannot do. An air of anxiety pervades the entire field.

The youngster is not playing the ball at all, but allowing it to play him, and, in spite of his gameness and nerve, he is hurting the team's chances.

Interesting Game for Spectators

The contest was one of the most interesting I have ever seen in a world series. The dope indicated that Cleveland ought to win the battle, but when Speaker elected Slim Caldwell to pitch the dope looked bad.

Slim started in to win the game. Having watched him work for years I want to say that it has been many twelvemonth since he had any more stuff on the ball or looked any better. In fact from the first it looked as if he was trying to do too much pitching too hard and putting too much on the ball. He got away in bad shape by passing a batter, then, after a neat sacrifice, Sewell muddled up Griffith's bounder and with runners on first and third, and one out, Caldwell was compelled to work much harder, also the infield was pulled a step closer, which permitted Wheat's sharp rap to get past Gardner and then Meyers' twisting handle hit got over Burns' head for a Texas league single and scored the second run. That finished Caldwell and Duster Mails who in the natural order of things, should have started the game, came on and Brooklyn never had another real chance to score.

The luck which had yielded those two runs for the Dodgers, reversed [illegible] the first time and On the face of the official returns it looks as if Brooklyn outbatted the Indians. As a matter of fact Cleveland hit much harder but without luck, save when Speaker smashed a hard drive past third which Wheat lost and allowed to go to the corner of the lot, letting Tris score.

The ethics of the World's Series of course, forbids any criticism of any umpire, and far be it for me to criticize Henry O'Day, than whom there are few if any better umpires. But to show how the luck ruled this game and to show upon what small things a World's Series game and perhaps a whole World's Series hinges, it must be recorded that had Hank called one ball differently Cleveland would have won the game by a rather large margin. He called that one ball a strike on Joe Wood at the start of the fifth inning. It was a fast ball, pitched rather high and rather close to the edge of the plate. O'Day was in best position to see, and he called it a strike, but it was one of those which Tommy Connolly would analyze as "a either way." This ball was the second strike, and had it been called the other way it would have been the fourth ball.

Looked Insignificant When Occurring

It looked insignificant at the time, although Wood gave vent to a couple of staccato barks when the decision was handed down and when the next play Wood was called out on strikes.

It was evident that Smith was wild—much wilder than he had been at any time, and he passed Sewell, after which Steve O'Neill whanged out a clean to centre and brought up an interesting situation. The situation was one created by Speaker himself. Had he not started Caldwell he would, of course, have yanked Mails out of the game and sent Les Nunamaker to hit in the pinch. Having used up Caldwell as far as the day's proceedings were concerned, he was about half out of pitchers and had to choose between using Mails as batter or substituting one of his regulars who was not good against southpaws. He chose to let Mails hit.

Smith was still wabbly. He was shooting the ball around fast and with considerable lack of precision when O'Day called another strike. Far be it from me to decide whether his decision was right or wrong but it is pertinent to observe that an American League umpire might have called it a ball. Anyhow, it enraged Mails, who stepped back to the plate and hit the ball right miles a minute past short.

BURNS INJURED IN MAT BOUT

Forced to Quit by Leg Muscle Twist in Stevens Match; Sturgis in Double Win

For the first time in his long career as a wrestler, "Cyclone" Burns was forced to quit the mat because of an injury in the main bout of Tuohey's tourney at the Grand. Wrenching from a grapevine fastened on his right leg by Harry Stevens of New York with both men standing the muscles of the trapped leg were twisted with a crack that sounded like a broken bone. A physician-spectator bandaged the leg and ordered Burns home. The men had been wrestling six minutes.

Four other bouts however, compensated for the briefness of the main bout. Peter Sturgis a Worcester middleweight won a double [illegible] defeating [illegible] Carson with an [illegible] scissors and wristlock in 24 minutes 30 seconds and Joe M[illegible] wristlock and body hold [illegible].

I hear you calling me!"

As the last note, sweet and clear trembled away [illegible] silence there was a burst of applause from the guests. In the darkened library the girl in whose honor the company was gathered buried her face in her hands and burst into sobs.

"Oh, Bob—Bob!" she moaned "How can I bear it!"

A tall figure moved softly forward out of the shadows in the back of the room. A hand was laid on her bowed shoulders, and, as she started violently, a gentle voice spoke.

"Hush—hush, dear!—It's only I —John. Poor little girl! Don't be afraid. It's all right."

Started to Her Feet

As she started to her feet and tried to pull herself away, John Brandon detained her by taking both her trembling hands in his.

"Bab, dear—I know how it is. I understand that Robert Elliot loves you, and that you—forgive me, dear, for saying it—that you love him.

"No—don't try to speak," as she attempted to gasp a protest. "I can see how it all happened. And, dear, I can see that I had no right to let you promise yourself to me. It was not fair. You were too young.

"No—listen. I love you so much that I would not marry you for anything in the world. I love you so much that I would want your entire heart—or none of it. I should have appreciated this at first. But I did not. Never mind [illegible] the past now. You [illegible] happy—you and Robert [illegible]"

He [illegible] her hands and stood [illegible] waiting for her to reply. When [illegible] she spoke, it was so low that he had to bend his head to hear.

"You are the best man I ever knew," she faltered. "And, if you will have me, and can stand me, I am going to marry you."

"You must not think that—Bob"—with a little gulp—"loves me. Perhaps he did once—but that was long ago."

"It was only about fifteen minutes ago," he [illegible] gently. "And [illegible] being the case, you have no [illegible] yourself—for you [illegible]

F[illegible] the [illegible] had [illegible]

[illegible] Arthur [illegible]

I want [illegible] After [illegible] It [illegible] that [illegible] that before the pair emerged from the darkened room Arthur had said in substance that [illegible] Barbara Paige and Robert [illegible] had already put into their own words.

"John," Arthur stammered huskily, seizing his friend's hand, "God never made a nobler man than you!"

"Sh—sh! Don't be so extravagant!" John tried to laugh. "I am holding the hand of a nobler one now."

"You are not considering yourself at all in this affair," Arthur protested.

"Yes, I am. But, first of all I want to see that child safe and happy. I will not have people asking her questions and making her uncomfortable over her change of plans. Therefore I am determined to carry out the plan I have just proposed—with, of course, your consent and Bab's. I am sure of Robert's. But, of course, I will speak to him first."

"I'll send him in here to you as soon as I can do so without attracting attention," Arthur promised.

A Happy Party

"It will be the second time within a half hour that he has been sent in here tonight," Brandon remarked. "I was the sender the last time—and the result was a success, too."

It was a success this time, also, if one might judge by the expression on Robert Elliot's face when, after ten minutes' talk with Brandon, he came out of the library. He went straight to where Barbara stood chatting in a low tone with her uncle.

She flushed hotly as she met his look.

"It's all right, is it, Bab?" he asked softly, mindful of those who might overhear the question.

For an instant her eyes held his. "Yes, Bob," she murmured before turning to speak to Charlie Braisted, who was coming toward her.

A Foretaste of Bliss to Come

THE insignificant sister of sixteen, standing in the shadow of the portiere while the gallant admirer of her elder sister is whispering sweet compliments into the shell-like ear of that fortunate young lady, sighs under her breath and says longfully. "Luddy, when I grow up and have such delicious things said to me, wear curls, rings in my ears, French heels and a jewelled butterfly?" Cheer up, little girl, it won't be long.

Keep Your Child Fit

By Brice Belden, M. D.

THE physical conditions which harmfully affect children of school age, causing them to fall behind in their studies and to retard the advance of others in their classes, may be classified as follows: Defective vision, defective hearing, defective teeth, defects of the air passages, heart defects, bone and joint deformities and defects of nutrition.

Among these handicaps, defective vision is the most important from the standpoint of interference with class progress. This condition is responsible for one quarter of those habitually left back.

It requires considerable observation to detect all those with defective hearing. The children are frequently diffident about it and their parents skeptical. Much can be effected by so placing these children in the school room as to minimize their hearing handicap.

Over 50 per cent of school children have unfilled cavities in their teeth despite the campaign of education that has been carried on. The cleansing and dental care of the teeth have very definite bearings upon the physical progress of the child.

[illegible] who have [illegible] through their defects [illegible] mouth-breathing, nasal discharges, frequent colds and ear trouble.

Heart defects are comparatively [illegible] Those [illegible] who suffer from [illegible] require special care in order to insure that the demands made upon the diseased organ are within its [illegible]

Regarding bone [illegible] deformities, desks and chairs must be [illegible] may be caused and may exist [illegible] curvature made worse by habitually faulty postures [illegible] correct posture [illegible] the [illegible]

Finally, no child can develop into a healthy and vigorous adult upon an unsuitable and insufficient diet prolonged over a considerable period. The child handicapped by malnutrition may generally be known by his appearance and lack of energy, both mental and physical. But there are many children not suitably nor sufficiently fed who cannot be easily detected.

There may be apparent good health where the feeding is bad, the deficient vitality not being revealed except, perhaps, in the shape of poor resisting power in the presence of infectious diseases. A knowledge of how and what the children are actually fed is essential in determining the truth of these cases.

Money in Eggs

Little Willie was discovered [illegible] industriously [illegible] all the eggs in the house. "Why, W[illegible] [illegible] do you mean by breaking all those eggs?" "Well," said Willie, "I heard papa say there was money in eggs these days, and I'm trying to find it."

Soups for the Fall Days

By Loretto C. Lynch

WITH the cooler days and keener appetites comes a desire for a piping hot plate of soup at the beginning of the meal, and many of our readers are asking how to make good soup. Soup is really an economical dish, contrary to the opinion of many inexperienced cooks.

Soup, however, except the soups made of milk, is not very nourishing. It has these good points, however: Hot soup stimulates the digestive juices and prepares the stomach for the reception of the more substantial food to follow. Soup also takes the edge off the appetite and prevents one from eating too much of the heavier, perhaps more expensive foods that follow.

Cold cream jars, or small cans in which some varieties of vegetable fat are purchased, make excellent containers for flavor-giving herbs. As Autumn comes, garden parsley may be uprooted, cleaned, hung up and dried. Celery tops should be hung in a cheesecloth bag and dried. Both celery and parsley may be crushed when dry and kept in their separate containers. They are just as flavor-giving when dry as when fresh.

Unless one is cooking for an invalid or baby, the purchase of fresh meat for soup is usually unnecessary. The bone of the steak, the bones of the chops or most any bits of left-over meat may all go in to the soup pot to give meat flavor. Too often we see a dog, dining on a steak bone and its bits of adhering meat when a thrifty housewife would have the same bone in the soup pot.

The water in which vegetables are cooked should be saved. Turnip water may be undesirable, but almost every other variety of vegetable water should be saved.

Cook your vegetables in just as little water as possible, but if there is a quantity of water evaporate it by boiling uncovered until it is reduced to a third or half the original quantity. Run a couple of freshly pared carrots, a cucumber from which skin and seeds have been removed, through the food chopper. Add a little parsley or celery, some bones and meat if on hand, and a tablespoon of raw rice, a few tablespoons of cooked rice or barley. Enough liquid must be in the pot to insure thorough cooking of the raw ingredients without danger of burning.

Sometimes it is necessary to add some water. A couple of slices of onion and a little tomato improves this soup. Any left-over cooked vegetable, even if it is only a tablespoon of peas or corn, may be put into this soup just before taking it from the stove. Before serving remove the bones.

It is an economy to keep a can or jar of tomato paste on hand for soups. A tablespoon of this concentrated paste will often give as good result as half a cup of canned tomato. Moreover, tomato paste once opened may be used from time to time as needed, and does not spoil as would a can of tomatoes.

Points of Resemblance

Poor old Pat Malone had just had dealings with a lawyer. It is uncertain whether the fault was Pat's or the lawyer's, but if either party came out of the deal satisfied, it was not Patrick.

He was feeling particularly resentful against all lawyers, and his "grouch" lasted and was still strong upon him when, two days later, he met Mike.

"Mike, me bhoy," he said, "all lawyers is just like a sleepless man."

"A sleepless man? Why do you say that, Pat?"

"Bejabers! Sure and he lies on one side and then on the other, and he is wide awake all the time. And, faith, when he dies, he lies still!"

As a Woman Thinketh

By HELEN ROWLAND

Copyright, 1920, by The Wheeler Syndicate, Inc.

SOMETIMES,
I think that next to caterpillars, jazz-bands, and a vain man
[illegible] I dislike most, in this whole wide world,
Is [illegible] "honest" person, with perfectly good intentions!
The kind that tells you when your hat is not becoming, and when you have "made a fool of yourself,"
And that you are getting too fat to wear plaids, or too old to wear baby-blue—and all those sweet little truths, "for your OWN good"!
The world is so full of them—
Careless, bungling, chattering people,
Who go about blithely dropping poison into other people's minds.
There is the woman who drops the poison of discouragement into her husband's mind, for instance
"O[illegible] Tom!" she says, "Give it up. You KNOW you can't succeed at that!"
And there is the man who drops the poison of self-consciousness and [illegible] into his wife's mind.
"Why do you dress like a flapper," he remarks, witheringly, "at YOUR age?"
Or "Who told you that you were a Ninon de L'Enclos?"
And there is the woman who drops the poison of jealousy into another woman's mind,
And the person who drops the poison of suspicion into a young wife's mind, by telling her to "keep her eyes open," and not "trust a man too far."
And the person who [illegible] the poison of discontent into a young husband's mind by calling his attention to his wife's little lapses or imperfections.
And all the "helpful" people, who insist on pulling other people down from the Seventh Heaven, or out of their "Fool's Paradise"!
Personally
I should rather go about all my life long, telling sweet, encouraging, FIBS,
Than to run the risk of letting fall ONE DROP of mental poison
The poison of fear, of discouragement, of unhappiness, of self-deprecation, of hopelessness
Into another person's soul!
Of course,
I know that FIBBERS won't go to Heaven
But, if all the good [illegible] "poison-droppers" are going there, as they think they are Well, perhaps [illegible] find it more fascinating
To go—[illegible] meet a lot of INTERESTING people,
Like Cleopatra, and Napoleon, and Henry VIII, and Baron Munchausen and Ananias
And all the other pleasant FIBBERS!
Anyway,
Beware of the Poison Droppers!
For cyanide or prussic acid MAY be pumped out of the system
But Mental Poison [illegible] into the blood and heart and SOUL
And nothing but the alchemy of Flattery
Will dissolve it!
And nothing will heal the seared spots
It leaves upon the spirit!

ABOUT OUR GOOD FRIEND Daily

Copyright, 1920, by The Ledger Syndicate

DAILY
VARIATIONS—O'Daily, Daly, Daily, Daley, Dale.
RACIAL ORIGIN—Irish.
SOURCE—A given name.

WHILE the family names of Ireland and Scotland are more often indicative of blood than those of England, they are not necessarily so, for both the Irish and the Scottish clans of the olden days were composed of men who merely acknowledged the leadership of the various chiefs, as well as those who actually were related to them.

But most of the Irish names, through such clan connections as these, trace straight back to very definite sources. The sources of the Daily group of names was the great grandson of "Adamh," who was a brother of "Fargal," the 156th monarch of ancient Ireland.

This chief was "Dallach." The name is derived from the Gaelic word for "blind," and the clan which he founded took from him the name of "O'Dallaighe."

Like so many of the Irish clan names, it has developed a number of different English spellings, due in part to the enforcement of British legal enactments at various periods intended to foster the English language and customs. Euphonically, either Daily or Daly is a correct English rendering of the name. In the case of Dale, some bearers of the name, either through choice or pressure, have gone a step further and taken this English name which sounds somewhat like the Irish one, although of different origin.

Advice to the Lovelorn

By Beatrice Fairfax

A Frank Lover

DEAR MISS FAIRFAX

I am eighteen and have been going about with a man of twenty for the past few months. I love him dearly. He has always told me that he loved me and I was the only girl he ever cared so much for until a few days ago when he said that at times he felt doubtful whether he loved me and that we better part now than later, but that he is positive he cares for me better than any one else.

It is very hard for me to forget him as we both work at the same place. I am [illegible] stenographer. Please Miss Fairfax advise me what to do as he intends [illegible] leave for a better position in two months.

BILLY C.

THE young man has been frank with you. Why not be equally frank with him? But first make sure of your own wishes. Would you like to keep him as a friend even if there can be no thought of love between you? Or do you want him to try to figure out the exact state of his feeling and then to put all thought of him from your mind in case he feels that it is not wise for him to think of any girl seriously as yet?

Tell Him the Truth

DEAR MISS FAIRFAX

I [illegible] with a man three years [illegible] senior. I am sure he [illegible] I have been a chorus girl for the last three years, [illegible] position I have ever [illegible] This young man disapproves of chorus girls and if he [illegible] I was a chorus girl he would give me up. Now what would you advise me to do: give up my career or give up my lover?

H. S.

BE honest. You are doing work which supports you. You are asking favors of no one. You have found a profession in which the most [illegible] have now come to recognize merit and clean, wholesome entertainment. If the young man can't care for you knowing what you do—he doesn't care for you as you are. Tell the truth, not [illegible] but with decent [illegible] your ability to [illegible] honest living. The world needs entertainment and relaxation. The stage gives not only that but other bigger, finer things. No one connected with it should be ashamed of a profession worthy of loyalty.

Beauty Secrets Revealed. Anna Q. Nilsson the Popular Actress Tells How

To Instantly Have a Beautiful Rosy-White Skin and Complexion.

MISS ANNA Q. NILSSON

New York—"The secret of beauty is the proper care of the skin," says Miss Nilsson, the popular Metro star. "It only requires a few moments' time and anyone is more than paid for the little effort it takes. In the first place the skin should be kept scrupulously clean. Use a good cleansing cream (Leska cold cream I have found to be the best), follow this by bathing the face with warm water, then rinse with cold water and dry thoroughly with a coarse towel. After this process select a beautifier, which in addition to being a beautifier has a healing effect on the skin. The very best I have found for this purpose is derwillo, as it instantly beautifies the complexion and its continued use makes the results permanent." Derwillo takes the place of face powder, as it stays on better and is wonderful for a shiny nose, oily, dark, sallow skin, freckles, tan, wrinkles and other facial blemishes. Just make this test. Put derwillo on one side of your face, then look in your mirror and compare it with the other side—you will need no further argument to convince you that nothing beautifies like derwillo. It imparts a youthful appearance and if you would keep your complexion at its best all the time make derwillo a part of your toilet, as you now do face powder, and note the favorable comment of your friends. Short sleeves are now in vogue, use derwillo to beautify your hands and arms and protect them from roughness and ruddiness, which always follows exposure to sun, dust and wind. It is guaranteed absolutely harmless on the most delicate skin and will positively not stimulate or produce a growth of hair. Give it a thorough trial and you will never be without it. Accept no substitutes, as there is nothing "better," "just as good" or "just like it."

NOTE: Ask your druggist about derwillo and he will tell you that he has never sold any toilet article which has become so popular in so short a time. This is due to the satisfaction it gives. It is guaranteed by every druggist or department store to give complete satisfaction or they will refund your money. If you don't like it take it back. Could anything be fairer? It is sold at all toilet counters in Boston and vicinity.

CASCARETS

"They Work while you Sleep"

Do you feel all "unstrung," bilious, constipated, headachy, full of cold? Cascarets tonight for your liver and bowels will have you tuned up by tomorrow. You will wake up with head clear, stomach right, breath sweet, skin rosy. No griping—no inconvenience. Children love Cascarets too. 10, 25, 50 cents.

"California Syrup of Figs"

Delicious Laxative for Child's Liver and Bowels

Hurry mother! A teaspoonful of "California" Syrup of Figs today may prevent a sick child tomorrow. If your child is constipated, bilious, feverish, fretful, has cold, colic, or if stomach is sour, tongue coated, breath bad, remember a good "physic-laxative" is often all that is necessary.

Children love the "fruity" taste of genuine "California" Syrup of Figs which has directions for babies and children printed on the bottle. Say "California" or you may get an imitation fig syrup. Beware!

STEEL DEMAND DECREASING

Rubbers and Tobaccos Are Weak in Second Hour; Trading Not So Active.

Although it is stated that the steel industry is in good shape, the Iron Age says falling off in buying of that product and iron is more pronounced. It says: "The uncertainty in the motor car industry is appearing in some degree in the agricultural implement trade, which only recently was said to be taking up enough steel to balance what automobile makers were canceling. Some implement steel has been held up and tractor companies in particular have been halted by the Ford announcement. All steel companies made much more steel than they booked in September, and nearly all shipped more than they produced. Yet the leading independents have business that will carry them through the year and are not reducing prices, since that would mark down much that is on their books. The real test is looked for at the turn of the year."

STEEL AND OIL SHARES DOWN

Rubber Shares Down and Tobaccos Are Weak in Second Hour; Trading Not Active

By W. H. ROSS,
Financial Editor.

Stocks were weak in New York at noon, being at the lowest level of the morning. Rails were the strongest class but not all of them were up. Steels and oils remained weak, while rubber and tobaccos slumped in the second hour. Texas & Pacific sold at its lowest in two years. American Tobacco was off about seven points and Invincible Oil more than four. Trading was less active today than before this week. First hour transactions totaled about 160,000 shares.

Call money opened at 7½ per cent. Foreign exchange rates averaged higher, opening quotations being demand sterling $3.50, up cent; francs $.0689, up $.0002; lire $.0395, up $.0007; marks $.0159, off $.0001.

IRREGULAR AT THE START.

At the opening changes were about evenly balanced between gains and losses. Rails and equipments were higher while steels, oils, motors, sugars and most of the list ruled lower. The price range was narrow in either direction but early trading was of good volume. New York Central soon sold at a new high for the year, while Invincible Oil, which was more active than usual, touched a new low. Sugars were among the weakest issues. Sears, Roebuck & Co. began a little lower, but made a quick recovery and advanced two points. Reading, off at the start, recovered on a few sales and soon showed a good gain. Rails were the most active group. Trade reports that demand is slackening were depressing to steel stocks. It is said that steel shipments are exceeding production and that during September manufacturers made more than they booked. The report as to unfilled tonnage at the end of September to be made tomorrow by the U. S. Steel Corporation will show a large decrease, according to Wall Street rumors. Equipments improved today because of talk that railroads will soon place large car and locomotive orders.

DIVIDED IN SENTIMENT.

As to sentiment there is a greater division in trading circles than for some time. But while the professional element is no longer commited to the bear side almost to a man, the disposition to sell short still prevails. The public is keeping out of the market but good buying from this source after the election is predicted by some observers. It is feared that new financing by some big industrial and commercial corporations, not to mention railroads, will keep money tight. Business reports are not reassuring and all these factors contribute to create depression. It is maintained that in the highest circles sentiment remains bullish. But calling of loans does not coincide with cheerful conversation.

Expansion of Banking

The growth of banking in this country is reflected by the expansion of bank capitalizations. In the third quarter of this year the capital stock of 130 national banks was increased in amounts aggregating $23,695,000, as compared with total increases of $17,450,000 for the corresponding 1919 period.

Wall Street Briefs

September net sales by the Hartman Corporation increased 14.7 per cent. Nine months combined sales increased 34.2 per cent.

For September Sears, Roebuck & Co.'s sales decreased nearly $6,000,000, compared with the corresponding 1919 month, and sales for the third quarter of this year totaled $40,290,738, a decrease of $8,738,952. But nine months' sales, including the September quarter, were $189,758,666, an increase of $27,664,073.

It is reported that the Atchison management is seeking control of the Colorado Midland and will pay $4,000,000 for the latter road, which runs from Colorado Springs to Grand Junction.

Western Electric's billings for the first eight months of 1920 amounted to $119,500,000 and unfilled orders on Sept. 1 totaled more than $85,000,000.

Dividend Declarations

Independent Warehouses, Inc., declared dividend of $2 a share, payable October 15 to holders of record October 8, out of earnings for the quarter ending September 30.

New River Company declared dividend on account of back dividends of $1.50 a share on preferred stock, payable October 19 to stock of record October 9.

Philips Jones Corporation declared quarterly dividend of 1¾ per cent. on preferred, payable November 1 to holders of record October 20.

Weber & Heilbronner decalred quarterly dividend of 1¾ per cent. on preferred, payable December 1 to holders of record November 15. A dividend of 50 cents per share was declared on common, payable November 1 to holders of record October 20.

Edison Electric Illuminating Company of Boston declared quarterly dividend of 3 per cent., payable November 1 to stock of record October 15.

Cotton Market Opening

New York, Oct. 8.—Poor reports from textile centres, renewed fears of a strike of British coal miners and continued excellent weather in the belt were chiefly responsible for a drop of 10@44 points in prices at the opening of the Cotton Market. Early trading was considerably mixed, but included more or less southern selling and buying by Liverpool. Cables at first were weaker, but rallied, being followed by an improvement in the undertone here after the call because of purchasing by the trade. By the end of twenty minutes the market was about unchanged from the previous close. Opening prices were: October, 23.50; December, 21.75; January, 21.10; March, 21.00.

SMALL CHANGE IN BOSTON

Local Market Firm at the Opening but Dull and Narrow; Curb Prices Off

There was a firm tone in the Boston market at the opening, but a majority of issues were unchanged on first sales. Trading was as quiet as it was narrow. But few coppers were dealt in and they had a weak tone. Calumet & Hecla sold at its previous low for this and more than twenty preceding years. Ahmeek gained a point on its first transaction. International Products preferred did as well. Osceola receded a point to a new low for the year. Other early changes were fractional. Packing shares displayed some strength, although inactive. Gray & Davis was the only auto accessory stock traded in during the first hour. It receded. New England rails were irregular. Stocks rated ex-dividend today were *Eastern Manufacturing New River preferred, Mohawk and Eastern Manufacturing.

Fractional gains were made by New Haven, Boston Elevated, Swife & Co., Swift International, Davis-Daly and Waldorf. Among those to sell a little lower were Boston & Maine, Carson Hill, Eastern Manufacturing, Seneca, Gray & Davis and North Butte.

CURB OPENED WEAK.

The Curb had a weak start, and was very quiet in early trading. Leaders at the opening and a little later were Arizona Silver, Mutual and Merrimac Development. Among those to advance at the start were Arizona Silver and Gulfport. Those to recede included Acme Coal, Allied Mining, Merrimac Development, Mutual, Republic Navigation and United Verde Extension. The market was narrow, as well as dull.

At the end of an hour losses included Arizona Silver two cents at 28 cents, Memmirac Development one cent at 22 cents, Mutual four cents at 37 cents and Boston & Montana two cents at 42 cents. Allied Mining had recovered its loss.

BOSTON FINANCIAL NOTES.

Seneca has been listed on the New York Stock Exchange.

During September Greene-Cananea copper production was 3,500,000 pounds and its silver output was 159,600 ounces.

Salem, Mass., will receive bids until noon today for the purchase at discount of a temporary loan of $200,000, one-half the loan dated October 8 and the other October 13, both maturing December 8, 1920.

The Acme Coal Company, whose stock was dealt in on the Boston Curb yesterday, is investigating a coal mining property in Arkansas consisting of 1,020 acres, located on the Arkansas Western Railroad.

It is expected that shares of the Submarine Boat Corporation will soon be listed on the New York Stock Exchange.

The Mullins Body Corporation has declared a regular quarterly dividend of $2 on preferred and $1 on common stocks, payable November 1 to stock of record October 16.

Forrest Price, financial editor of the Christian Science Monitor since its inception, is now associated with the Massachusetts Trust Company.

September copper outputs included 3,314,000 pounds by New Cornelia and 3,038,000 by Calumet & Arizona.

DOES NOT EXPECT BEFORE WAR PRICES

A. Barton Hepburn, chairman of the Chase National Bank advisory board and one of the country's leading bankers, says as to the commodity price situation that a recession was not only in order, but inevitable. As to how far reductions will go, he said:

"It is probable that prices will not reach pre-war levels because of the economic and psychological changes brought about by this world upheaval. Lower prices will result naturally in increased buying, increased consumption and therefore increased production. Not until a safe and sane level has been reached, however, will business feel warranted in branching out."

OPEN ALUMNAE CONVENTION

Catholic Women Delegates Consider Evils of Styles at Hotel Brunswick

Women delegates from all parts of the United States and Canada gathered at the Hotel Brunswick today forthe opening of the fourth biennial convention of the International Federation of Catholic Alumnae.

The Right Reverend Monsignor Edward A Pace presided at the meeting of the advisory council in the morning, which formally opened the first day's session. Committees on resolutions and amendments met in the afternoon, and the former considered a resolve condemning the evil tendencies of modern styles and dancing.

A meeting of governors of the States and provinces was scheduled in the afternoon, and likewise the opening of the credentials headquarters. Recess was to be taken at 5 o'clock.

Offices and delegates were to be the guests at a reception arranged for tonight at the Hotel Somerset. Miss Mary Berran, governor of the Massachusetts chapter, was the welcoming orator, with Mrs. James J. Sheeran, international president, named to deliver the response.

"Hymn to the Blessed Virgin," by Cardinal O'Connell, opens the musical program, all the delegates taking part.

The convention ends on Tuesday.

WOOL INDUSTRY NEEDS THROUGH LIQUIDATION

A large independent woolen and worsted manufacturer says that while the situation is bad it is not hopeless, but that a sound basis cannot be reached until liquidation has been thorough and the process to curtail vigorous. He said:

"It takes time for orderly liquidation and time is of great importance to overstocked jobbers and middlemen. Were it not for them, manufarturers could liquidate down in short order.

"Wool is down 50 per cent. on the average—60 per cent. in some instances. Certain Australian grades that ruled around or above $2.20 a pound for a long time and which before the war cost only 55 to 56 cents a pound are back to $1.20. Now, figuring on the basis of a dollar being worth 50 cents, wool is, therefore, back nearly to normal, as twice 56 cents is $1.12 a pound.

"The establishment of wholesome conditions ought not to take long. The country is prosperous and buying power is certain to follow the establishment of price stability. That stability is not far off, if raw material markets are a fair criterion, for wool in some cases is well below cost of production."

More Gold En Route

The steamship Adriatic, which sailed from Liverpool for New York yesterday, is bringing $3,200,000 in gold for Kuhn, Loeb & Co.

BIG ROXBURY LIQUOR SEIZURE

Charge Rum Is Smuggled in from Canada in Potato Sacks; 2 Arrests Made

Bonded whiskies and European brandies, valued at $25,000, alleged to have been smuggled into Boston from Canada in potato sacks and stored in the barn adjoining the residence of Thomas F. Connor, No. 2026 Columbus avenue, Roxbury, were seized and two men, who it is charged had arranged to sell the liquor, were arrested.

The defendants, Jacob Bloom, aged thirty-eight, No. 64 Wayland street, Dorchester, and Iradore Shuffer, aged twenty-eight, No. 154 Everett street, Chelsea, were arraigned today before United States Commissioner Hayes charged with violation of the prohibition laws.

It is charged that the two defendants agreed to sell the stock of liquors to Federal agents and that the bargain was made in Bloom's Dorchester home, the transaction being directed by William J. McCarthy, New England enforcement officer. The money was put up and the two defendants in an auto truck left to get the goods.

They were trailed by agents, it is stated, to the barn in the rear of the Connor home. On the return, the truck was waylaid by Federal officers in front of No. 112 Hutchings street, Roxbury, the occupants arrested, and the liquors confiscated.

Other arrests may be made, according to the authorities.

Prohibition agents stated that a search of the barn where the liquor was stored showed other wet goods.

Copper Still Down

Little copper is being marketed and sales below 18 cents a pound were again reported yesterday. Small producers are said to be quoting 17½ cents. The recent reductions have failed to bring consumers into the market and it is a question at what level they could be induced to stock up. Present buying is of the "hand-to-mouth" character. Lead prices are nominally unchanged. Little business is being done in spelter.

Chartered for Building

A Mass charter has been granted to the Building Trades Unions Co-operative Construction & Housing Council, Inc., authorizing it to undertake co-operative building projects. The capital stock is $100,000 common of $10 par value per share.

Not long ago, a trade paper made the statement that six billion dollars should be spent by the railroads in this country for new equipment over the next several years, but if equipment companies get orders aggregating only half of this sum it will mean extreme prosperity for them for a long time to come.

It is interesting to know which equipment companies are in position to prosper to the greatest extent, so we have prepared a survey of the equipment situation, having analyzed the present financial status of the more important concerns, with the outlook for future business, and this survey appears in our current

MARTHA HEDMAN WANTS TO VOTE

Swedish Actress at Hollis St. Theatre Refuses to Wed for Balloting Privilege

By FRED J. McISAAC.

Woman suffrage caught Martha Hedman unawares.

The attractive Swedish actress, who is co-star with Arthur Byron in "Transplanting Jean," at the Hollis Theatre, has been in America eight years and is in process of becoming a citizen, but the process is not completed yet.

Therefore Miss Hedman can't vote for President this year, and she is quite distressed about it.

"You might get married and become a citizen automatically."

"I want to be a citizen by myself, and not be dependent upon a man for the privilege," said Miss Hedman. "Besides, I have heard of many funny reasons for committing matrimony, but getting married so as to obtain a vote is something new.

LIKES HER NEW PLAY.

"If I were married I would not wish to be dependant at all. I would want to continue my own work and earn my own money. Why I am so accustomed to buying my own things and paying for them myself that I do not know what I should do if a husband were to say:

"Why did you pay so much for a hat instead of so much?'

"I should probably feel that he was extremely impertinent. Very likely I would get a divorce. But there is no danger of that. Don't you like our little play?"

I said I did very truthfully.

"I think it was very clever. I do not think my part is very much, but I would rather have a fair part in a fine play than a wonderful part in a bad play. Oh my, do you remember when I came here with John Drew in "The Prodigal Husband?"

"That was a terrible play, the worst ever. It was so bad the audience would begin to walk out at the beginning of the last act, and when the play ended Mr. Drew and myself would be alone on the stage, and alone in the house. Everybody else had fled.

FOND OF BOSTON.

"I am fond of Boston. I love to ramble through your twisting and turning streets. I do not like these long, straight streets of modern cities where you can look ahead for miles and see everything you are going to meet. I like surprises. I like to turn corners and see unexpected things. One is always doing that in Boston. Beacon Hill is fascinating to me, and I do not know how your rich people can be willing to live anywhere else.

"How are you amusing yourself here?"

"Ah," said Miss Hedman, "I will tell you a secret. I am trying to see if I can write."

"A play?"

"I don't know what it will turn out to be. I am like the bride who kept serving her husband the same dish meal after meal. When he finally complained, she said:

"'I don't intend to give you the same dish at every meal, but somehow, no matter what I start to make, it turns out to be that.'"

ANOTHER EXPLOSION THEORY COLLAPSES

New York, Oct. 8.—Another line of investigation in the Wall street explosion collapsed today. The authorities are admittedly as much in the dark as they were when the blast occurred. Giacomo Carusso, who was detained on the theory that his alleged anarchistic affiliations might enable him to throw light upon the explosion, has been released. Charles Fasulo, Frank Ferrero and Vincenzo Abato, who were arrested at the same time, are in custody, but they are not charged with complicity in the explosion. Abato and Ferrero are said to be wanted for robbery.

"SPORT" SULLIVAN READY TO FACE CHARGES

Joseph J. (Sport) Sullivan, who has been indicted by the Chicago Grand Jury for alleged complicity in the bribing of White Sox players, is willing to be arraigned on the charge at any time, according to his attorney, William J. Kelly. Kelly has written the State's attorney at Chicago to this effect and is awaiting an answer, stating the date of arraignment and the amount of bail required by the Illinois authorities. Sullivan is at his home in Sharon.

LAWRENCE PRIEST DIES AFTER LONG ILLNESS

Lawrence, Oct. 8.—The Rev. John Herron Hughes, O. S. A., son of Stephen Hughes of Forest street, this city, died at St. Joseph's rectory, Greenville, N. Y., following a long illness, according to word received by relatives here. He was twenty-seven years of age and a native of Lawrence. Funeral services will be held here tomorrow when a solemn high mass of requiem will be observed in St. Mary's Church. Burial will be in the priests' lot at St. Mary's Cemetery.

WORCESTER K. C. MOVE TO ASSIST ORPHANAGE

Worcester, Oct. 8.—Alhambra Council, K. of C., has made the initial contribution toward a fund to be used to make repairs to St. Anne's Orphanage, ordered by State building inspectors. The Knights gave $200, which will be used to build fire escapes ordered by the inspectors. The Gray Nuns in charge of the orphanage, which houses 240 youngsters, will be evicted by the State inspectors unless certain repairs to the building are made.

CITY'S COAL FUND IS $300,000 SHORT

With $300,000 more needed by the city for fuel for its many departments this year, which is $300,000 more than the original budget appropriation of $600,000 for coal for the city, Mayor Peters issued to the heads of the city departments a letter asking that they conserve the city fuel.

INDORSE IRISH FREEDOM MOVE

Textile Workers Amend Resolution to Include All Small Nations

Manchester, N. H., Oct. 8.—Thirty-eight resolutions were presented at the session of the United Textile Workers of the World.

Among those adopted was an endorsement of self-determination for Ireland, which was amended to include all small nations, in accordance with the declaration of the League of Nations.

It was presented by Patrick J. Cahillane, organizer of the American Federation of Labor and a field worker for the Friends of Irish Freedom.

ASK 44-HOUR WEEK.

Resolutions were also adopted reaffirming the position of the organization for a universal 44-hour week and authorizing the officials to continue the fight for a 44-hour schedule all over the country.

A resolution was adopted authorizing the expenditure of $5,000 for the furtherance of the co-operative movement for buying of necessities.

The following is the text of the Irish self-determination resolution:

"Whereas, the American Federation of Labor is expressive of labor for freedom and has ever raised its voice in protest at oppression and misrule, and whereas, the Montreal convention of the American Federation of Labor went on record demanding the recognition of the Irish republic, and:

"Whereas, each week that has elapsed since then has seen a recurrence of oppression and repression of indignities, outrageous abuse, massacre and assassination visited upon Ireland and Irish people by the misguided officials of Great Britain in their policy of despotic misrule, and:

DEMAND IRISH FREEDOM.

"Whereas, the British Government is now seeking to destroy through military forces the republican form of government already established by the Irish people, and:

"Whereas, the House of Representatives, the Senate of the United States, the British Trades and Labor congress, the labor movement of Australia, the American Federation of Labor, as well as the liberty-loving people of the world, have repeatedly urged the British government to fully recognize the rights of the Irish people to self-determination. Therefore, be it

"Resolved, That the United Textile Workers of America, in convention assembled, indorse the action of the American Federation of Labor and demand that the military forces of occupation in Ireland be withdrawn from that country and that the Irish people be allowed to guide their own destinies as proclaimed in the manifesto issued by the President of the United States, the same as all other nations recently given their freedom, comprising his fourteen points and agreed to by the British government and its Allies in the recent World War."

WHITINSVILLE MILL ON FOUR-DAY WEEK BASIS

Whitinsville, Oct. 8.—Officials of the Whitinsville, Linwood & Saundersville cotton mill have announced that, beginning next week, the plant will operate on a four-day week schedule. The present condition of the cotton market has necessitated the curtailment, they say.

Middlesex Superior Court

As the result of a collision of automobiles in Everett on July 13, four suits, each for $5,000 have been filed against Louis Snyder of Cambridge in the Middlesex Superior Court at East Cambridge. The plaintiffs are Louis Mondello of Waverley, Florence Del Mastro of Belmont, a minor, Lucia Del Mastro of Belmont, and Josephine Mondello of Waverley. They were riding in a car driven by Louis Mondello and allege that they were injured when the defendant's car collided with the one they were in.

New England Should Give Aid to Holy Cross College

We print herein a letter from the president of the College of the Holy Cross. It is a better editorial than we could write on the question discussed:

Editor of the Boston American,
Boston, Mass.
Dear Sir:

Through seventy-seven years of devoted service to the cause of higher education in New England, Holy Cross has risen steadily in power and usefulness. Its graduates—more than two thousand in number—are prominent in every walk of life.

In no other college has the cost of education been kept so low. Despite the ever rising tide of prices, a student may still obtain board, lodging and tuition for four hundred dollars a school year. This is because Holy Cross has been content to carry its old debt and because the members of its faculty receive no salaries. At Holy Cross some of our best trained educators are laboring early and late in the service of the youth of New England and in return receive their board and clothing.

The enrollment of the college has increased faster than its dormitory and classroom space, so that now a New England college is compelled to turn students from its doors.

Holy Cross, long known as the poor boy's college, wants to continue the service it has been giving. To do this it needs buildings and is appealing to the alumni and the friends of higher education to support it in obtaining funds in its hour of need.

Members of the faculty and the alumni of Holy Cross will be deeply grateful to you for any editorial comment you may wish to make in support of the college or any space you may grant the appeal in your news column.

Sincerely,
JAMES J. CARLIN, S. J.,
President.

By the recent constitutional amendment concerning State appropriations for educational institutions, Holy Cross, in spite of the benefits conferred by the education she gives to the youth of the State, is denied the privilege of appealing for help to the government. Under all the circumstances attending that great controversy, the American believed that it was wiser to pass this amendment.

But, on the other hand, the passing of the amendment increases the obligation, particularly of those who approved of it, to exert themselves in order that no worthy educational institution should suffer by reason of the amendment. Nobody denies or could deny the worthiness of Holy Cross to receive financial help. If it gives the scholars a college education and board and lodging during the school year for four hundred dollars it is REALLY an eleemosynary institution. We know of no other college in this State which can do likewise for less than three times as much.

Therefore, we appeal to members of the community of all sects and denominations to help Holy Cross.

Upheaval in East Aimed at Western Imperialism

The Manchester Guardian, one of England's leading journals, describes the condition in the East this week thus vividly:

From Baku comes the report of another dramatic scene very different in portent from that in Paris. A Congress of Eastern races has just been held there under Bolshevik auspices. At its conclusion the two thousand delegates, echoing the call of the Bolshevik president, rose in tumult, and, waving swords, scimitars, and pistols, swore to a "Holy War" against Western Imperialism. It is obvious the Bolsheviks are resuming with sinister energy the revolutionary propaganda which they had allowed to slumber for a while in the East. They dominate the Caucasus and are in league with the Turks in Asia Minor; in Persia and Bokhara they have but to further the revolutionary currents which are rapidly swelling; in Khiva they have chosen to set up a dependent local government with a promise of autonomy, and everywhere, from Syria and Mesopotamia to India and Korea there runs a flame of discontent which needs little fanning to blaze.

It is noteworthy that the distinguished English newspaper is careful to declare that the revolt of the millions in the East is not against Western civilization or against Western religions or against Western races, but is against Western IMPERIALISM.

It is really against the nations who pretend that they warred on Germany to make the world safe for democracy, and who, having inveigled America into the war upon that slogan, have turned the victory which America won for them into an opportunity to indulge into an imperialistic appetite that has not been equalled in Europe since the dark ages. It is against the breach of solemn contracts. It is against the scrapping of treaties. It is against the use of allies for the purpose of winning the victory and betraying them after the victory has been won. It is against the practice of grabbing everything that is worth while which its possessor cannot defend with force. It is against the doctrine that might makes right and that "they may take who have the power and they may keep who can" that the scores of millions in the East are rising. That imperialism which wants to exploit Russia and, therefore, will not give Russia peace while she refuses to be exploited is compelling Russia to lead in the Eastern upheaval.

In the meantime those alleged statesmen in Europe who are employing the doctrine of force, having thrown off the mask of democracy by which they excited us to believe in their pretences, are now trying another camouflage upon us. They have already fooled the President the second time, this time being with the League of Nations by which they pretended that they seek the peace of the world as they first pretended to make the world safe for democracy. But Lincoln once said that you can fool all the American people some of the time and some of the American people all the time, but you cannot fool all the American people all the time.

When the American people at the coming election bury the League of Nations and put out of dangerous places gentlemen whose credulity and guilelessness is too childlike to be safe, the imperialists of Europe will appreciate how well Lincoln knew his country.

More Truth Than Poetry

Our Heroes of the Mud

By S. E. KISER

NOW put away the bat and gloves; the football season's here;
They've cut a gash in Charley's cheek, and Ted has lost an ear.
At night when Freddie comes from school we welcome him with joy;
For one more brief and precious day the fates have spared our boy!
His hair is filthy with the mud in which he had to dive,
And on his clothes are clots of blood—but he is still alive.

THE freshman and the sophomore fall in a close embrace;
The senior knocks the junior down and steps upon his face;
They break the halfback's collar bone, not meaning any harm,
And here and there a luckless one lies with a shattered arm.
The captain signals. "Six, eight, four, five, seven, three, two, nine!"
And then falls back, to play no more; he has a twisted spine.

THE cheering people fiill the stands; the happy maidens blush
When George's trousers are torn off—then comes a sudden hush!
Is Roberts killed or merely stunned? The doctors rush to see;
No matter, though, the substitute's as good a man as he!
Oh, happy days! Who minds the chill? Our heroes of the mud
Again provide us with a thrill by spilling human blood.

INFORMATION FOR THE ANXIOUS

"Do you believe it is right," he asked, "for a man to ask a girl to let him kiss her before he has invited her to become his wife?"

"No," she replied; "not if he is that kind of a man."

SUGGESTIONS IN ORDER

People who bet on baseball games are referred to by the Chicago grand jury as suckers. If you know of any more fitting name for them, perhaps the Chicago grand jury would be glad to use it.

Letters to the Editor

Good Police Work

Editor Boston American:

I think a word of praise is due to Captain James T. Sullivan of Station 2, Boston Police Department, and Special Officer John Manning and Sergeant Flynn for the good work they did in apprehending the three black sheep among them, who, under the protection afforded them by a policeman's uniform, were systematically stealing the property of the very people they were paid to protect.

As a volunteer officer during the police strike, I got more or less of an insight into the work of the police department of a large city, and I may say that this has brought me to realize how difficult the work of the police, from captain down to patrolman, really is.

It is not a very easy matter to catch just an ordinary thief after he gets away with the goods, but just think what a problem it was to get evidence on three officers of the law, guided by one who has had nearly ten years' experience as a private detective before he joined the police force.

The fact that this task has been accomplished, however, speaks volumes for the efficiency of our present police department and also for the honesty of purpose and frankness of the superior officers in giving all the facts to the public when they could easily, as I well know, have hushed the matter up by just asking for the resignations of the three officers.

Loyal Scotch

Editor Boston American:

With regard to the Irish question, I read with interest the Rev. C. F. Aked's article on this subject. He gives a side light in introducing the analogy of Armenia and Turkey that appears to be new, but why go so far afield? Can he or anyone else enlighten my ignorance and explain why it is you never have heard and probably never will hear of Scotsmen objecting to England? Climatically and agriculturally Ireland is superior to Scotland, her land laws are more liberal and she has a much bigger representation in Parliament. Why, then, don't the Scotch want to cut the painter?

H. N. BELL.

For Johnson

Editor Boston American:

I see the big news today is that Borah has bolted, and I am sure many of the readers of the Hearst newspapers are asking what is the matter with Hiram Johnson for President? Cut out the wiggles and wobbles, branch and root, as Mr. Harding was not nominated by the will of the American people.

A VOTER.

DEAR K. C. B.
IF YOU have got.
A HEART as kind.
AS I have always.
THOUGHT YOU had.
YOU OUGHT to feel.
A PLEASURE in.
THE KNOWLEDGE that.
YOU DID acquire.
WHEN YOU found out.
THE COLORED boy.
DID GIVE the smokes.
YOU GAVE to him.
TO THE old man.
OF DIGNITY.
WHO YOU believe.
HAD LONG ago.
SEEN BETTER days.
FOR DON'T you think.
THAT THIS old man.
WHEN HE'S alone.
WITH NOTHING but.
HIS MEMORIES.
AND YOUR cigars.
WILL SEE arise.
AMIDST THE smoke.
THE VISIONS of.
SOME BRIGHTER days.
AND FACES, too.
THAT SEEM to smile.
AS IN the days.
OF LONG ago.
WHEN HE was young.
AND HAPPY, too.
SO WON'T you still.
WHEN YOU have got.
AN EXTRA smoke.
TO GIVE away.
PLEASE GIVE it to.
THE COLORED boy.
WHO DOES not smoke.
SO THAT he may.
JUST GIVE to the.
OLD GENTLEMAN.
THE ONLY pleasure.
AND I am sure.
THE BLESSINGS of.
THOSE GONE before.
WILL REACH you here.

I THANK you.

OUTSIDE INTERESTS

Some persons pity the man whose wife is interested in something of an improvement nature aside from her housework.

The husbands of such women do not need pity.

The chances are that these men are proud of the ability of their wives to do something out of the ordinary plan supposed to be laid down for housekeepers, and real women seldom do things to which their husbands object.

If a woman is so constituted that she enjoys things not strictly in the schedules of the housewife, why should a husband object or feel slighted?

All married couples should order their lives as seems best to themselves as life partners, providing they do not infringe on the marital law nor cause discord in the family nor neglect the home and the home circle.

The man whom you pity because you imagine his home is neglected by the wife may be much happier than the man whose wife does nothing but wait on him and anticipate his desires.

LOYALTY TO FRIENDS IS STRONG IN WOMEN

By Damon Runyon

Copyright, 1920, Star Company.

WOMEN are great people. If you go to a woman and tell her that some fellow she is fond of has done something wrong, she says, right off the bat:

"I don't believe it!"

Go to the fellow's very best friend with the same story, a friend he may have done many favors, and what does the friend say?

He says:

"Is that so? Well, well, it's too bad, but I'm not surprised."

No element of doubt in his tone. No questioning the veracity of your statement, or the source of your information.

More Loyal

I have heard a woman "stick up" for a man friend when half a dozen other people in the party were agreeing that he was all wrong. In eight cases out of ten a man under similar circumstances with a woman friend being criticised would have remained silent.

Women are even more loyal to their women friends, too. They may hate pretty well when they feel that a little hate is due, but carry their friendship to a higher temperature than man is able to reach.

One serious handicap to a woman in the matter of friendship for a man is the way of the world in misunderstanding or misconstruing such a friendship.

This funny old world insists on believing that any time a woman manifests friendship for a man, she must be in love with that man. The world will not stand for any of that platonic business nowadays.

Much Inspired

I went home the other night much inspired by these thoughts and sat at our living room window giving my mind free rein on this subject.

Finally I sighed heavily and remarked to my wife:

"It is certainly a shame," I said, "that this world refuses to understand a friendship between a man and woman. I suppose," I said, "that the attitude of unthinking people in this regard has often destroyed what might have been the most beautiful and helpful of friendships between men and women."

"Is that so?" said my wife, carelessly. "All right, out with it! What's her name?"

(From today's The Pilot).

Women Should Register and Vote

It is no longer a privilege for women to vote. It is a civic duty. We are living in a democracy where the voice of the majority rules. Now that the women of the country constitutionally may go to the polls to cast their votes, it is right and the serious duty of all women of eligible age to register in their particular districts at once.

The good of the State and nation will only be conserved by the people at large enacting those measures necessary for the well-being of society and registering their protest through the use of the ballot against what they conscientiously believe to be contrary to the common good.

If the women, having received through constitutional action the right to take part in the conduct of government, do not register and vote, but look apathetically on the matter of women's votes, there is grave danger lest the voice of the minority may prevail and the general public suffer thereby.

Stars and Stripes

No, Gertrude, chicken houses are not whitewashed to keep the chickens from picking the grain out of the wood.

Maybe the fellow who says Opportunity never knocked at his door was away on a cabaret party when the knock came.

If Henry Ford paid for all the free advertising his car has received, every humorist in the country would have enough money to buy one of the machines, but Henry wouldn't have enough left to manufacture any more.

There are some people in the world so thick that they think Paul Revere was one of the Four Horsemen of the Apocalypse.

A delegation came to Jones' front porch the other day, and he felt flattered, until he discovered it consisted entirely of bill collectors.

APPEARANCE DECEPTIVE IN MANY PERSONS

By the Spectator

SOMETIMES I think Nature has her jokes, is pranky, and even cruel, in her outlandish misfits. I know a perfectly dear girl-soul, the sweetest, homiest, loyalest, most unselfish darling imaginable, and with a face like a monkey! It's positively wicked.

And I know several absolute ninnies, complete and post-graduate fools, who have the loveliest faces, complexions of milk and roses, mouths like Cupid's bow, adorable necks and soulful eyes, and they don't know enough to come in out of the rain.

All Delicacy

Then think of the svelt and lively men-souls, all delicacy and litheness, and encased in big, fat bodies! And those other man-souls, in handsome flesh casings, gorgeous mustaches, Jovian brows, supple forms, elegant noses and eyebrows, yet whose real selves, actually, if you could X-ray them, would look like frogs!

And then talk to me of reading one's character in one's face! It shows how poverty-stricken people are for ideas. Somebody thought of this, that personality shines in the face, and straightway all the troop of novelists, moralizers and hoi polloi caught up the thoughtoid and ran away with it like a dog with a bone.

If there is any difference, if appearance does mean anything, it is safer to take it to mean the opposite of what it seems. Usually, not always, of course, the perfectly beautiful young woman wants to marry for money; at any rate she is more apt to be selfish and hard than otherwise. Usually, also, the unattractive girl will make the best wife and mother. Usually the man with a taking way is looking for something of yours to take. Usually the shy, awkward, sensitive, modest fellow is the best to tie to.

To Be Attractive

I don't blame people for wanting to be attractive, nor wonder that they patronize beauty doctors and massage their wrinkles, but there is a more excellent way. A steady, years-long, inward life and purpose of sweet and kindly thoughts will creep out and make an invisible but none the less perceptible halo around any face. Make the most of this contradiction.

This modern prevalent horror of old age is one of the sickliest symptoms of our time. The real kind of personal attractiveness increases with age. Sweet souls, like good wine, improve the longer they are kept. For those who know how to appreciate human values, white hairs and crow's feet count for nothing.

Do not be deceived. Dress the Governor, or the parson, or the banker, in striped clothes; shave their heads, put them in cells and feed them on mush and molasses, and you would exclaim: "What perverted looking creatures! How true it is that you can tell a criminal by his looks!"

The Placid Worker

I KNOW a man who never asks
For money that he hasn't earned;
Without complaint he does his tasks,
By no affairs of state concerned;
He mows a lawn that's green and wide;
The hair grows low above his eyes;
He thinks the keeper at his side
Is there enjoying exercise.

Bonuses

UNCLE SAM, richest of nations, least scarred by the World War, gave to his honorably discharged service man a bonus of $60 and nothing else but promises.

Let us see how this compares with what the other fighting nations did.

Italy, very poor, gave to its private soldiers $34.74 to $63.69, depending on length of service.

France, also poor, $82.99 to $233.58.

Great Britain, $24.30 to $140.94.

Australia, $32.81 to $98.42.

Canada, $250 to $600.

Australia and Canada also made generous land grants.
